REYNOLDS

The name Reynolds[†] is of Norman origin and comes from a family of Renard. "Burke's Landed Gentry" states family of Reynolds is of great antiquity claiming descent from Reynolds' son of Grethferth the Dane, King of Northumberland, who was driven from England with two sons, A. D., 944, and took refuge in Normandy. His descendant Reynolds, Fitz Reynolds (Fitz meaning son of) returned to England with William, Duke of Normandy, known as William the Conqueror in 1066 and was in the battle of Hastings.

The Reynolds line is to be found through all the different reigns and kingdoms of England. The name Reynolds means son of Reynold, the original being Rainhold, a Teutonic personal name of great antiquity. Rainaldur or Rainold, was a landholder in Exeter, Devonshire, generally admitted to come from the old German Reginold. The name Runnel is a Scotch term meaning a small brook or riverlet, although this originated from the English Reynolds. Many Families in Ireland bear this name. There are forty-nine different spellings[‡] or corruptions of the name and over thirty Coats of Arms.

REV. FRANK T. B. REYNOLDS

Rev. Frank Ten Broeck Reynolds, son of the late John and Ellen P. (Beaver) Reynolds was born at Ulster Park, Ulster County, N. Y.; married (1st), in June 1899, Miss Harmeria C. Jones, daughter of John R. and Jennie (Perrine) Jones of Ulster Park, N. Y., who died in February, 1914; in June, 1916, he married (2nd) his present wife, Mrs. Annie (Walling) Welch, widow of the late Thaddeus P. Welch, and daughter of Thomas Burrowes and Catherine Patterson (Applegate) Walling of Phalanx, Monmouth County, N. J. His theological training was received at the Reformed Episcopal Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa., Class of '99. Mr. Reynolds began his work as a Minister of the Gospel in the beautiful city of New Westminster, British Columbia, on Sunday, June 25, 1899, when he was inducted rector of St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal Church, which he continued to serve for more than two years, during which time he had the pleasure of seeing the membership and influence of the church enlarge, as well as the indebtedness upon the new church removed. It was while at New Westminster, Mr. Reynolds frequently gave illustrated lectures in several institutions and to the firemen of the city and fraternal societies. In November, 1901, he accepted the call to become the rector of Christ Church, Reformed Episcopal, Toronto, Ontario. This congregation had, through a train of unfortunate circumstances, lost its church property and was much discouraged, but rallied under the leadership of this new rector and put in operation plans whereby, in the course of a few years, this valuable property was reclaimed. While much time and strength had to be spent on the financial and material side of the work, the spiritual was not forgotten and the addition to the membership of the church was substantial. Because of ill health that followed an attack of scarlet fever, it was considered advisable that Mr. Reynolds seek a milder climate than that of Toronto, and in the autumn of 1905, he resigned as rector of Christ Church and a few weeks later he was called to become the minister of the Reformed Church of Spotswood, which he served for six years. Some marked features of his work there were the conducting of preaching services in the school houses of the surrounding neighborhood and the establishing of Sunday schools and the development of a boys' club in Spotswood. This latter organization followed a rather original program, combining religious, social and physical activities.

Accepting a call from the Reformed Church of Glenville, Schenectady County, N. Y., he began ministry in October, 1911, and during two years of service the church property was greatly improved. An outstanding event of his ministry at Glenville was the celebration of the centennial of the church, which brought together from far distant points, former members and friends of this historic church, that had sent seven men into the Christian ministry.

In October 1913, Rev. Mr. Reynolds took charge of the Church of Keyport, N. J., and through the cooperation of his congregation, the influence of the church had been widely extended; the property greatly improved and beautified. The church has become a pioneer in certain lines of religious and social activities.

His vision of the Kingdom of God has been such as to inspire in each field of his ministry greatly increased offerings for the denominational and benevolent funds of the Church. While not forgetting that the great work to which he has been called, is to preach, teach and minister to his people, has found time for other interests, notably the work of the Monmouth County Bible Society and the Monmouth County Historical Association, he being secretary of both of these organizations.

At the request of Rev. W. H. S. Demarest, D. D., president of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary, Mr. Reynolds contributed a special article to the volume "Ter-Centenary Studies," the subject being, "The Church in Monmouth County."

During the World War, he was very active, especially the Red Cross, having organized the Keyport Branch and served as its Chairman throughout the war. Was also called upon many times to deliver patriotic addresses in the interest of Red Cross; Liberty Loan and Y. M. C. A. drives. Has also taken an active interest in Scouting. Mr. Reynolds has always been very much interested in Civic affairs, served as Trustee and Secretary of the Keyport Public Library Association for several years. Is the Chaplain of the Eagle Hose Company No. 4. His interest in Genealogical matters is shown by his long membership in the Reynolds Family Association of which he has been Chaplain for the past twelve years. Also belongs to several fraternal societies.

Program of the Thirty-eighth Annual Reunion of the Association

TOASTMASTER: PHILIP E. REYNOLDS.

Promptly at 1:30 P. M., dinner was served by the ladies of the church in the Church House. The Invocation was offered by the chaplain. After fully enjoying the sumptuous repast, the president of the Association, Frank V. R. Reynolds, of Greenwich, Conn., extended greetings to the members of the Association and announced that exercises would be in the hands of the toastmaster, Philip E. Reynolds, of Dunellen, N. J., who, in accepting the responsibility of the position, expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred and called upon Mayor Raymond L. Wyckoff, who most graciously extended a hearty welcome to the Reynolds Family Association. The Mayor laid emphasis upon the honor and privilege of having the Association hold its reunion in Keyport, especially so in view of the fact that this was the first reunion ever held in New Jersey. Mayor Wyckoff expressed his admiration and appreciation of the great work our Chaplain, Rev. F. T. B. Reynolds had been doing in Keyport since he came to be a resident there, and hoped the Association would soon hold another reunion in the borough. Several delightful solos were sung by Mrs. Arthur Olson of Dunellen. Mrs. Philip E. Reynolds accompanied Mrs. Olson on the piano.

In closing the after-dinner program, Rev. Frank Ten Broeck Reynolds, minister of the Keyport Reformed Church, announced that the Keyport Chamber of Commerce had placed two of the best of the Rollo Company busses at the disposal of the Association that a sight-seeing trip might be enjoyed. Very shortly after 3 o'clock this was started and passed through Osborn and Front Streets, out Broadway to Matawan. The first stop was made at Old Tennant Church, where church and battlefield were visited, one of the shrines of our country. At the church we were given an inspiring patriotic address by our Chaplain; thence on to Freehold, where the battle monument was viewed after which Red Bank was the next stopping place. They returned to Matawan and Keyport where trains were taken for New York, Trenton, Philadelphia, etc.

The visitors greatly enjoyed their sojourn in Keyport, giving expressions to their appreciation of our fine little town, its hospitality as expressed by Mayor Wyckoff and citizens, and its Chamber of Commerce, also for the beautiful flowers that were placed upon the tables.

The Fliers

O how they fly!—the men, and women too!

In strange aircraft they fly
On motor-driven wings of wondrous make,
Bird-like cleaving the sky.
No flitting movement of the tiny birds
They do not dare to try.

In order to excel by higher flight
Or longer poise in air
Or farther distance covered without stop
No pains nor means they spare;
And ever with a dauntless courage armed
The crash of death they dare.

Across the continent the mail-planes go
And come in steady flight;
Through snow and rain and beating winds they press
And darkness of the night
The one care of the pilot brave to land
The precious mail aright.

O how the words of people far away
Fly through the air unwired
To bring to many a radio audience—
Who listen never tired—
Thoughts entertaining with delightful things,
Music as if inspired!

We, too, are flying—all, flying through weeks
And months and gathering years
From that small starting-point of infant life,
'Mid changing joys and tears,
On, ever on till at our farthest flight
Heaven's happier life appears.

AARON REYNOLDS

(In "Daniel Boone: Wilderness Scout," by Stewart Edward White—pub. 1922, New York, by Doubleday, Page & Co., $1.75—on pp. 264-67; 272-73, we find an interesting account of an Aaron Reynolds, probably of Virginia or Pennsylvania. His Revolutionary War record, No. 6, p. 56, 1916, R.F.A. Annual, reads: "One of the defenders of the Fort at Bryan's Station, Kentucky, August 16, 1782: faced a savage host in ambush." The Indians were besieging Daniel Boone and the settlers who were inside the Fort. Mr. White writes:)

"Our old acquaintance, Simon Girty (an Indian renegade), was with the invaders, and at one time tried to scare the garrison into surrender by tall talk of artillery. * * * However, nobody was particularly scared. A young fellow with a ready tongue, named Reynolds, happened to be in the garrison. He leaped to the parapet in full view.

"You ask if we do not know you?" he shouted. "Know you! Yes. We know you too well. Know Simon Girty! Yes. He is the renegade, cowardly villain, who loves to murder women and children, especially those of his own people. Know Simon Girty! Yes. His father was a panther and his dam a wolf. I have a worthless dog that kills lambs. Instead of shooting him I have named him Simon Girty. You expect cannon, do you? Cowardly wretches like you would not dare touch them off if you had them. Even if you could batter down our pickets I, for one, hold your people in too much contempt to discharge rifles at them. I have been roasting a number of hickory switches with which we mean to whip your cutthroats out of the country."

"With a laugh he jumped down out of sight just in time to escape a hundred or so of exasperated bullets.

"However, the Indians knew that Reynolds spoke the truth in one particular. * * * On the morning of the seventeenth of August they withdrew, very angry over their failure.

"Before going on with the main narrative, it will be amusing for us to learn what further we can of this same young fellow, Reynolds, with the 'ready tongue,' for later we shall meet him at the disastrous battle of Blue Licks. His tongue evidently was always rather too ready. We encounter him in the militia command of a Captain Patterson, described as good-hearted and active, but a 'very profane swearing man.' The latter description must have been mild, for at the end of four days Captain Patterson decided either to make him modify his swearing or send him home. Of course, we do not know how religious a man Patterson was; but the backwoods leaders of those days were not notably squeamish. The captain waited until Reynolds was in full swing, and then called him down hard and publicly. Temporary effect. Next day the 'profane swearing man' was at it as bad as ever. This time Patterson enforced military discipline not only by an even severer scolding, but by a promise of a bottle of rum if he 'immediately quit his profanity and swearing.' Four days later, when the expedition had ended, Reynolds demanded his quart. Captain Patterson ventured to doubt whether the young man had gone four full days without a single oath. Reynolds appealed to the company then drawn up at parade. To a man they said they had not heard Reynolds 'cuss a solitary cuss' since he had been rebuked. 'Then,' says the chronicler, 'the spirits were drank.' * * *

Some days later occurred the battle of Blue Licks, and Mr. White writes:

"Now among the participants in this battle were both that 'profane swearing man,' Aaron Reynolds, and his old commander with whom he had clashed on the occasion which happily culminated when the 'spirits were drank.' When the rout began Captain Patterson could not find his horse, and as he was still suffering from unhealed wounds inflicted in another Indian fight, the hasty flight afoot soon exhausted him. Just as he gave up all hope, young Reynolds leaped his horse over intervening obstacles to his side; dismounted; and, without a by-your-leave, bundled the captain into the saddle. Before Patterson realized what was going on, he was dashing into the river. He was actually the last man to cross. Some of the Indians were running alongside shooting at him, but he escaped without another scratch.

"In the meantime, Reynolds, who was a remarkably strong and active young fellow, ran and dodged and reached the river safely, but not at the ford. He was forced to plunge in and swim across. On the other side, after outdistancing his pursuers, he stopped to wring out his buckskin trousers. Those of you who have worn buckskin will appreciate the necessity for that. When wet, buckskin is heavy, clammy, and stretches absurdly, so that the garment which when dry is decidedly too small, when wet has enough material in it to furnish out two grown men and a boy. Just as he was pulling off the trousers, and so was all tangled up, two Indians pounced on him and took him prisoner. But Reynolds was not at the end of his resources. Watching his chance he knocked down one of his captors and escaped. Later he met Patterson who, of course, thanked him earnestly; at the same time asking rather curiously why he had taken such desperate chances for the sake of a man with whom he had nothing but trouble and difficulty. He replied that ever since Patterson had made him stop swearing he had felt a strong affection for him and had completely reformed not only his actions but his ways of thinking. To round out the story, Patterson then gave him a horse and saddle and 'a hundred acres of prime land.' This was the first real property the young man had ever owned. It—and his narrow escape—steadied him. He settled down, and eventually became a strong and devout church member."

THE AMERICAN FOUNDERS

This genealogy is an account of JOHN and NAOMI (LATIMER) REYNOLDS of Wethersfield, Connecticut, whose known history extends from about 1650 to 1700.

It is said, upon the authority of a letter from the Reverend William T. Reynolds, dated June 4, 1878, to Dr. H. A. Street, that John came from Cheshire or from near Ipswich, England. We know that he was born before 1650, and that he died Nov. 15, 1682, at Wethersfield. His estate was appraised at[†] £121-0-0, and the papers in the settlement of the estate mention his son John, Junior, as aged about ten, and son Jonathan, aged six.

The earliest[‡] records of Wethersfield, now kept in the State Library at Hartford, Conn., do not go back of 1640. There is little mention of John in them. His private earmark appears in the town records of Judge Adams deposited[§] at Hartford:

"1673—The ear mark which John Rennals gives all his cretures is an half-penny on the foreside the right ear and an half-penny on the under side the same ear."

On the margin of the record, as an index, is written John's name.

In June 1678, John received by gift from his "Mother-in-law, widow Ann Latimer," 25 acres of land southeast side of Broad Street, next north of John Betts, and next south of John Latimer.

John was a member of the Wethersfield Church previous to January 12, 1774, and his gravestone is there. He owned the lands where the Connecticut State Penitentiary now stands. This is designated in the town plots as the "Pennywise" Tract. Robert Reynolds also held land in it in 1635.

Another John Reynolds and his kinsman Robert[¶] Reynolds came from Watertown and Boston, respectively, in 1635-36, and took up homes in Wethersfield, but both removed within a few years. That^{||} John's home was on High Street, third from the meeting-house and about the centre of town, between John Gibbs and Andrew Ward, some 3½ acres. On March 11, Feby. 11, 1640-41, he received a houselot and several other pieces of land. These were all sold to Lieut. John Hollister, recorded May 20, 1644, o.s. There was also a Robert Reynolds of Wethersfield, who "went to the fort and died in Saybrook in 1662." His children were: Reinold, Mary and Hannah. Of this latter we have no further knowledge, at all. It is singular that these four different pioneers were all at different times in Wethersfield, two Johns and two Roberts, and that no clue can be found to show relationship or identity. A careful search of the records in Hartford should do much toward clearing that up. It is singular that the last mention of John of Greenwich, then living near Stamford, was in a Greenwich deed 1651, and that the history of John of Wethersfield begins about that time. Yet the first John had sons, John and Jonathan, clearly traced thru the history of Greenwich; and the John of Wethersfield likewise had sons John and Jonathan who certainly were not the same two of Greenwich. The brothers of Greenwich were born about 1636 and 1638 and were married in 1656 and 1668; the two of identical name in Wethersfield were born in 1674 and 1677 and were married in 1693 and 1697. Therefore, we must abandon the theory of identity of John and sons John and Jonathan of Greenwich with John and sons John and Jonathan of Wethersfield. There is almost a generation between them.

[§] It is interesting that the earmark of John Reynolds of Greenwich, Conn., is also recorded in the Wethersfield Town Record, I-11, in 1641.

The wife of John of Wethersfield was Miss Naomi Latimer, born there July 4, 1648, whom he married probably about 1665, probably in that town. She was the daughter of John and Ann Latimer. Her father seems to have died prior to 1678 when the above land was given to John Reynolds.

After the death of John, Naomi married (prior to 1700) Philip Goffe. He was the second son of thirteen children of Philip & Rebecca Goffe (Gough?), and was b. 1653, being about five years younger than Naomi; he d. at Wethersfield, March 7, 1724. They had a daughter, Naomi, who married Samuel Westcott of Kingston, R. I.

When John's property was divided up, son John took north side of highway (13½ acres); Jonathan south side of highway (11½ acres).

The children of John & Naomi Reynolds were born in Wethersfield:

2. Keziah, b. 1667. No more known of her.
3. Anne, b. 1669; m. Robert Davis of Providence (and Warwick), R. I. Among their children were: Robert Davis, who m. Mary Hopkins. Keziah Davis, m. Peter Greene of the old Greene family of Warwick (See Greene Genealogy). Their daughter, Jerusha Greene, m. Sylvanus Westgate (or Westcott) of Warwick; whose daughter, Sarah Westgate, m. James Rhodes of Warwick; whose son, Malachi, m. Betsey Sheldon; whose daughter, Betsey Rhodes, m. Stephen Arnold; whose son, Stephen Augustus Arnold, m. Anne Sophia Bosworth; whose daughter, Frances Bosworth Arnold, m. Cyrus Withington Eddy, who had Cyrus Tourtellotte Eddy of 210 New York Ave., Providence, R. I., who supplies this information.
4. Rebina, b. 1671: this name is unusual—could it have been Rebecca, mis-spelled in the old town records? No more known.
- *5. John, Jr., b. June 29, 1674; m. Hannah Dix, November, 1693.
- *6. Jonathan, b. 1677, Wethersfield; d. there, 1704-05; m. Elizabeth Coleman.

THE SECOND GENERATION

5. JOHN REYNOLDS: (*John*¹) b. Wethersfield, Conn., June 29, 1674; d. Dec. 10 1750, "in his 79th year." At this time there was a John Reynolds, with son, John, and himself son of a John, living in Greenwich, Conn., see the first two generations of the JOHN REYNOLDS of WATERTOWN GENEALOGY, 1924.

John m. Miss Hannah Dix, Nov. —, 1693, ceremony by Captain John Chester, Commissioner. Hannah was daughter of Leonard & Sarah Dix of Wethersfield. Marriage entered on Wethersfield records Jany. 3, 1699-1700.

On Jany. 3, 1699-1700 the farm of John's father was divided by a highway in Wethersfield. John chose the northern 13½ acres and his brother, Jonathan, the southern 11½ acres. It seems that none of Jonathan's male children had descendants, so that the Wethersfield Family of Reynolds is all descended from *John*¹; *John*², etc.

Cemetery, First Congregational Church of Wethersfield, Conn.:

"Here lies Interr'd the Body of Mr. John Renalls, who died December ye 10th, 1750. In the 79th year of his age."

"Here lies Interr'd the Body of Mrs. Hannah Renalls, wife of Mr. John Renalls, who died April ye 7th, 1733, in the 65th year of her age."

Births from Wethersfield records; baptisms are from records of the Reverend Stephen Mix. John reared the children of his son James who died prematurely.

*7. Hannah, b. Aug. 18, 1695; m. Thomas Goodrich, Nov. 26, 1719, of Glastonbury, Conn., part of Wethersfield. See Goodwin's Notes.

8. Freelope, b. Feby. 18, 1697-98; died in the summer of 1700, aged two.

*9. John, b. Feby. 8, 1699-1700; m. Mrs. Rebecca (Mann) Lupton.

*10. James, b. Oct. 18, 1703; d. March 1731-32; m. Annie Goodrich, 1724.

11. Jonathan, b. March 29, 1707.

6. JONATHAN REYNOLDS: (*John*¹) b. 1677, at Wethersfield, Conn.; d. there. 1704-05. He m. Miss Elizabeth Coleman, Nov. 4, 1697, daughter of John Coleman, deceased. Ceremony by Capt. John Chester, Commissioner. After Jonathan's early death, she m. 2nd, Captain Stephen Hollister of Wethersfield, before 1709. On Feby. 28, 1704-05 letters of Administration were issued to Elizabeth and John Reynolds, as Jonathan died intestate. John Coleman was son of Thomas Coleman (or Coltman) of Newton Harcoate, Weston Co., Leicestershire, England.

On Jany. 3, 1699-1700 the farm of Jonathan's father was divided by a highway and Jonathan took the southern half while John took the northern half. It is curious that this land seems to have been in the neighborhood of that owned by JOHN REYNOLDS of WATERTOWN, Mass., about 1636-44, which he sold in 1644 to Lieut. John Hollister who in his will mentioned land of John Reynolds adjoining, this last John presumably the father of this Jonathan. At this same time there was a Jonathan in Greenwich, Conn., whose father was John of Watertown who had been in Wethersfield in 1636-41.¶

12. Keziah, b. Dec. 27, 1700; bapt. Dec. 29, 1700 (diary of Rev. Stephen Mix); m. Dec. 3, 1719, David Stoddard, who died May 14, 1736.

¶ Note that he left no male descendants.

Children: 1, David, b. Sept. 28, 1720. 2, Keziah, b. July 17, 1723. 3, Samuel, b. April 7, 1726. 4, Jerusha, b. March 7, 1730. 5, Stephen, b. March 3, 1733. 6, John, b. Feby. 10, 1736. See Standard Genealogy.

13. Jonathan, bapt. Aug. 15, 1703; d. young. Was bapt. Aug. 15, 1703 by Rev. S. Mix.
14. Anne, b. Oct. 16, 1704; bapt. Dec. 1704-05 or 1705.

THE THIRD GENERATION

7. HANNAH REYNOLDS: (*John*²; *John*¹), b. Aug. 18, 1695; m. Thomas Goodrich, Nov. 26, 1719, son of Ephraim and grandson of William. Settled in Glastonbury, Conn. See Goodrich Genealogy and Savage's Genealogical Dictionary. Their children were:

Goodrich:

19. Peter, b. June 7, 1720; m. Bathsheba Miller. They had twelve children: 1, Hosea, b. Feby. 10, 1760; d. Nov. 6, 1761. 2, Hannah, b. July 25, 1761; m. Eber (Ebenezer?) Dudley. 3, Hosea, b. July 1, 1763; d. Oct. 27, 1845; m. Nov. 17, 1785, Hepzibah Penfield. 4, Elias, b. July 17, 1765; m. Hannah Bailey. 5, Rebecca, b. Sept. 7, 1767; m. Jonathan Crittenden. 6, Mary, b. June 3, 1770; d. Jany. 1, 1771. 7, Ansel, b. Feby. 18, 1772; m. Polly Strickland, Oct. 14, 1804. 8, Daniel, b. July 22, 1774. 9, Luther, b. July 16, 1776; m. Sarah Davenport. 10, Samuel, b. Aug. 2, 1778; m. 1, Abigail Hamlin, 2nd, Charlotte Russell; by the first wife had: Ira, Abigail, Major, William, Penfield, Irene, Betsey, Elvira. 11, Mary, b. Jany. 25, 1781; m. 20. James, b. May 2, 1723. Children: Susanna, b. Aug. 23, 1746, m. George Hollister. Jerusha, b. May 21, 1748, m. Elias Hollis. Ashbel, b. July 28, 1749. Abigail, b. July 12, 1751, m. David Hollis. Thomas, b. Nov. 27, 1755.
21. David, b. June 26, 1725; never married.
22. Thomas, b. April 7, 1727; died young.

9. CAPTAIN JOHN REYNOLDS: (*John*²; *John*¹) b. Feby. 8, 1699-1700, Wethersfield, Conn.; baptized by Rev. Stephen Mix, Feby. 18, 1699-1700; d. May 9, 1789, aged 90, Wethersfield, where he always lived. He m. Mrs. Rebecca (Mann) Lupton, Boston, Jany. 6, 1731-32 (recorded in Boston, by Rev. Benj. Coleman). She was b. Jany. 11, 1699; d. Wethersfield, Dec. 12, 1779, aged 80, daughter William Mann, a merchant of Wethersfield and Boston, who d. 1735. She had m. previously, Josiah Lupton, 1720, who d. before 1725; they had daughter, Rebecca Lupton. In May, 1751, proceedings were brought against Captain John on a promissory note in a local court; May 14, 1741, Captain John was entered on a petition to the General Court of Connecticut. Children:

24. John, b. Oct. 10, 1732; baptized by Rev. Stephen Mix, Wethersfield, Dec. 3, 1732; m. Clemine Tyler (or Fyler?), Nov. 28, 1765, Wethersfield. John's brother, Richard, was a witness of the marriage. Dr. Street says he settled in Harrington, Conn. A John Reynolds m. at Wethersfield, Nov. 30, 1768, Mary Lockwood (Bailey's Early Conn. Marriages). Of the children, all but Elizabeth are given in the Wethersfield records; perhaps he did not remove from there. Children: 1, John, b. Oct. 4, 1766. 2, Tyler, b. June 13, 1768. 3, Sarah, b. May 11, 1770. 4, William, b. March 9, 1772. 5, Jerusha, b. Jan'y. 5, 1774. 6, Rebecca, b. Nov 16, 1778. 7, Elizabeth, b. —.

26. William, b. July 6, 1735; married and settled in Kinderhook, Columbia County, N. Y.; afterwards removed to Upper Canada—perhaps a Tory in the Revolution.
27. Sarah, b. March 10, 1736-37; 'died early.'
28. Rebecca, b. Aug. 9, 1739. Probably she who m. Colonel John Belden, June 12, 1760, and had Rebecca, b. 1765; d. Aug. 19, 1801, who m. Rev. Saml. Mills, Feby. 1798. Nine Belden children, see Belden Genealogy. See N. E. H. G. Register, viii, p. 9, No. 76, desc. of Richd. Seymour.
29. Richard (Captain), b. May 27, 1741; d. during the Revolutionary War. He was a commander in the West Indies trade; he was imprisoned by a mutinous Tory crew who turned his vessel over to the British then in possession of Long Island. In imprisonment on the prison ship Jersey, where for months he suffered incredible hardships. He was at last sent to New London, emaciated by disease and suffering, and he died a few days after arrival. The official record runs (see Reynolds Fam. Annual, 1916, p. 96): "Richard Reynolds of Wethersfield, Feby. 5, 1780, master of the Washington, a Connecticut sloop in the Revolution (probably privateersman), six guns, twenty in the crew; bond, $5,000, by Richard Reynolds, James Church of Hartford and Charles Caldwell. Owners, John Broome & Co., Hartford. In papers of Continental Congress, xvi; 21, 196."

10. JAMES REYNOLDS: (*John*²: *John*¹) b. Wethersfield, Conn., Oct. 18, 1703; d. West Indies, March 1731-32, as recorded on Weth. Town Records. He was baptized Oct. 22, 1703, by Rev. Stephen Mix. He m. Miss Anna Goodrich, Nov. 15, 1724, at Wethersfield, daughter of Lieut. David Goodrich of that town. The birth of two sons and the death of the father are entered on the Wethersfield Town Records, with the notation that they were made about 15 years later 'at the desire of the grandfather of Mr. John Reynolds.' Perhaps Anna, the widow, m. William Jones of New Haven. One record says she was daughter of Eleazer Goodrich. It is a tradition that James at first paid his addresses to an older sister, but finally loved and married the younger Anna. His grandson, William A., also died a mariner's death, at sea.

- *31. James, b. March 20, 1730-31 (Weth. Record, though family Bible says 'March 18th'); he d. May 17, 1818; m. Mehitable Blakeslee.
32. Hezekiah, b. August —, 1732 (posthumous); "died in the Bay of Honduras, aged twenty, unmarried," in Central America. Judge Sherman Adams says he was baptized by Rev. Stephen Mix, Aug. 20, 1730 (but 1732 probably meant). Who was Hezekiah who m. Freelove Wilke, Sept. 28, 1756, of Norwich-Bozrah, Conn.?

THE FOURTH GENERATION

31. LIEUT. JAMES REYNOLDS: (*James*³; *John*²; *John*¹) b. Wethersfield, Conn., March 20, 1730-31, as written on town records there; d. West Haven, Conn., May 17, 1818, aged 87, where his death is recorded. His father, a sea-captain, died in the West Indies when James was a year old; his brother, Hezekiah, a seaman, d. in Honduras Bay, C. A., about 1752; his son, Frederick, was a sea-captain; and his son, Dr. Wm. A., died at sea of yellow fever.

He m. Miss Mehitable ("Hetty") Blakeslee, March 2, 1753, at New Haven, who was b. there, 1733, d. West Haven, Nov. 2, 1809, aged 75. They are said to have had seven children, though only the four sons grew to maturity. Mehitable was the younger daughter of old Tilloo Blakeslee of West Haven, slave dealer and blacksmith. Tilloo lived on the ground where Deacon Talmadge's widow and daughter lived in 1890, bounded by the main road where Capt. Jacob Ward lived, running west to the woods. As a slave dealer he did not prosper, and in time removed to Roxbury, Conn. On this old place in W. Haven the black cinders and forge dirt are still to be seen in digging about there. On his removal to Roxbury (then called Woodbury), Conn., he cautioned his two daughters against young James Reynolds, who was a too-gallant youth for Tilloo's taste. Nevertheless, James became engaged to the elder, though he ultimately married the younger sister, "Hetty." She was an exquisitely pretty girl—"a very fresh-looking and handsome maiden. At a party she waited until all the others had danced before she would, and then she stepped out and out-did them all. She was a mid-wife in the days when they were not too common in these parts." (W. Haven, May 16, 1890, statement of old Mrs. Deacon Wm. Talmadge.)

In 1783 James and his sons, Hezekiah and James B., exchanged their farm in Roxbury (Woodbury), Conn., for that of Lamberton Painter in West Haven. Painter had become so much annoyed by the raids of the British who often landed on the West Haven shore and stole his property that he was "worried to death by them." Once when the British red-coats under General Tryon landed on the shore, the inhabitants fled up to "Bonner Hill" towards Oyster River, and they filled their pockets with food as they did not know how long they might have to hide in the woods from the British. The red-coats landed in the night on the W. Haven shore and, guided by Tories of that locality, they began ravaging Painter's farm. Painter hid in his attic among the tobacco hung there to cure, but after the retirement of the British with most of his provisions and forage and some livestock, he determined to get out. In 1783 he deeded to Hezekiah and James Blakeslee Reynolds "of Woodbury" 13 acres of land at a plain called Round Hill. In 1784 these boys bought 7 acres of Nehemiah Smith in W. Haven, again describing themselves as of "Woodbury, Litchfield Co." Further account of these deeds is under the record of James B. in the next generation.

James himself was a Lieut. in the Revolutionary War: all four of his sons were members of Capt. Leavenworth's Company 1776 from Woodbury.

"James Reynolds, Woodbury, Conn., First Lieut., Second Co. of Col. Swift's Battalion, under Capt. Thaddeus Lacey, from Litchfield Co., Conn. State Battalion raised with Mott's, for service in vicinity of Ticonderoga under General Gates, July-Nov., 1776. Officers are entered as originally appointed, rolls incomplete. James served several enlistments and became Lieut. Was at Battle of Ridgefield where Wooster fell, and where the yeomen left their ploughs for battle."

At the Battle of Ridgefield, his musket became so hot that he could hardly hold it. He lived in Watertown, Conn., 11 years; Roxbury, Conn., 11 years; then West Haven, Conn., 1783.

Before removing from Roxbury (Woodbury) to West Haven, Conn., he was Sheriff of Litchfield Co.

In the Census of 1790 of New Haven, James and his sons, Frederick and James B., were given as heads of families. Lieut. James, himself, wife and one negro slave. James B., with self, 1 son under 16, 2 females, 1 free servant. Capt. Frederick himself, wife and 1 negro slave.

- *35. James Blakeslee, b. Wethersfield, Conn., April 27, 1754; d. Jany. 2, 1834; m. Mrs. Mary (Kimberley) Thomas, who d. Sept. 13, 1833.
- *36. Hezekiah, b. July 4, 1756, Woodbury, Conn.; d. June 30, 1833; m. Martha Davenport Wolcott.
- 37. Frederick, who died in infancy, Nov. 10, 1762.
- 38. William, who died in infancy, Nov. 4, 1762.

Dr. Wolcott's wife was a Miss Atwater, daughter of Jeremiah Atwater, who was a rich merchant of New Haven. Atwater found in a keg of nails which he imported a large number of Spanish pesos. The dealer on the other side of the Atlantic wrote that he knew nothing about the contents of the nail-keg. Mr. Atwater then melted the Spanish money down into a communion set which he presented the Centre Church of New Haven. Doctor Wolcott was descended of the Reverend John Davenport of Stamford, and who founded New Haven and was pastor of its historic church. Another ancestor was General Roger Wolcott.

Hezekiah came to Wallingford about the close of the 18th century, and resided in the west part of town in what was known as the old Beadle's House on Popple Hill. Then he moved into the village and bought the house formerly the residence of the Rev. Samuel Andrews, an Episcopalian minister before the Revolutionary War. In 1877 his grand-daughter, Martha Wolcott Reynolds Foote, wrote A. M. Harrison, her cousin: 'I was seven when my grandfather Hezekiah died. He was a handsome man, short, stout, with black eyes. His hair had been black, but it was then grey. He was slender and had a very fine complexion with red cheeks; his hands and feet were very small. He was hospitable, genial and social-minded, with brilliant conversational powers. While in business in Roxbury, he went to Branford to visit relatives, was asked to sing in the choir the Sunday he arrived. My grandmother (Miss Wolcott), then sixteen, looked up into the choir-loft and met his eyes. They fell in love at first sight, and were shortly thereafter married and removed to Roxbury. Their wedding tour was from Branford to Roxbury: she rode there on horseback on a pillion behind her husband, and behind her rode Cato, a little black slave, six years old, and part of her wedding portion. They removed to North Branford, then to Wallingford.'
