Two Histories

Into three centuries
This State counts up her years,
And on her history-page
A record fair appears
Unstained by blood of wars,
Undimmed by anguish-tears.

In her good town of Lyme
Our Family life began,
And 'neath her peaceful skies
Our Family history ran
For more than four decades,
As time is marked by man.

Our hands have reached outside
To give new membership
From States both near and far,
And feel the friendly grip
Of strong and faithful hands
That will not let ours slip.

And here we come today
To find our Native State
Has busy been this year
With joy and pride elates
Her Tercentenary,
Fitly to celebrate.

And now we praise the Lord
Whose wondrous love and Might
Through years and centuries
Have kept these histories bright,
And State and Family
Kept precious in His sight.

CELIA MARY REYNOLDS.

Read at the Reunion, October 19, 1935, Stamford, Conn., by the Secretary, Mrs. Rippier.

The Reynolds Family Association

The Forty-fourth Annual Reunion was held on Saturday, October 19, 1935, at The Roger Smith Hotel, Stamford, Conn.

An informal reception was held at eleven o'clock, when the members and friends were able to greet each other again, and also the pleasure of meeting those who had never met before.

At noon the President, Leonard J. Reynolds, of Montclair, called the meeting to order. Mr. Louis W. Elliott of Katonah, N. Y., opened the meeting with prayer.

The Secretary's report was read, likewise the report of the Treasurer, and both were accepted.

The Secretary read the list of the members who had passed on during the year. A silent tribute was offered. (See the Obituaries.)

As to the Officers, the name of Frederick G. Reynolds of Brockton, Mass., was presented and accepted as one of the Vice-Presidents of the Association. Mr. Reynolds would represent the interest of the R.F.A.; he is of The James Reynolds of Kingstown, R. I. Line. See page 2 for the names of the Officers.

As to the place of meeting for the Reunion, it was decided to follow the usual custom of alternating, and meet at the Prince George Hotel, New York City, October 17, 1936.

At one o'clock the President extended a welcome and followed the singing of America, all gathered for the luncheon.

The Invocation was offered by Alfred C. Rippier Sr., of Brooklyn, N. Y. The Program opened with piano selections by Miss Florence G. Brady of Stamford, Conn., who rendered other selections during the Program.

Miss Harriet L. Reynolds, of Greenwich, Conn., gave a splendid address, in honor of the Tercentenary of the State of Connecticut.

Three Centuries of Connecticut Achievements. (See pages 10-12.)

Mrs. Walter G. Reynolds of Mt. Kisco, N. Y., favored us with recitations. Mr. Bradford T. Mix of Greenwich, Conn., told about the "Charter Oak Tree," that stood for many years in Hartford. A beautiful picture of the tree was shown. Mr. John F. Reynolds of North Haven, Conn., also told some interesting facts about the tree. (See page 12.)

The Hon. Noah H. Swayne of Darien, Conn., a guest of the gathering, gave an interesting address, upon the State legislations, and impressive remarks upon the observance of the laws in the early days and the present time.

A Poem, Two Histories, written by our Poetess, Miss Celia Reynolds of Bennington, Vt., was read by the Secretary.

As Mr. and Mrs. George W. Reynolds of Glen Ridge, N. J., had recently returned from a wonderful trip, Mr. Reynolds gave a most interesting description of their visit to Japan, China, Bali, Java, Dutch East Indies, Malay Straits and India.

Mr. Nelson U. Lockwood of Stamford, Conn., was most entertaining in his reminiscenses.

At this gathering there were several descendants of the Capt. Timothy Reynolds of The Watertown Line.

The beautiful flowers placed upon the tables were the gift and attention of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Travis of Lake Mahopac, N. Y., and Mrs. A. Harold Close of Stamford, Conn.

With the singing of Auld Lang Syne, another beautiful day and Reunion came to a close.

Respectfully submitted,

(Mrs. A. C.) ANNA C. RIPPIER,
Secretary.

THREE CENTURIES OF CONNECTICUT ACHIEVEMENT

By Harriet Lyman Reynolds

It is an event when an American comomnwealth is able to celebrate its three hundredth birthday. Connecticut is about to enjoy that privilege. A Tercentenary Commission, authorized by the state legislature and appointed by the governor, is planning the celebration for the summer and early autumn of 1935. Connecticut is a daughter of the Massachusetts Bay Colony whence settlers came to found the three river towns of Wethersfield, Windsor, and Hartford. Except for a few pioneers, this migration began in 1635, and by the end of that year there were, for the first time, settlers living in each of these three towns, and, furthermore, a fort had been established at Saybrook. Hence, 1635 has been selected as the year to be generally commemorated.

Preparations for the observances, which begin this month and will continue until October, are under way throughout the commonwealth. The United States Mint has issued a commemorative silver half dollar, with its graven tribute to the old colony the Tercentenary Commission has struck its medal with the clustered grapes of this New World Canaan, and the Post Office Department soon will offer its special three-cent stamp bearing the image of that palladium of Connecticut liberty, the Charter Oak.

A set of postcards and two packets of snapshots, showing historic buildings, and scenes and personages in the states three centuries of growth, have been issued by the Connecticut Daughters of the American Revolution as a Tercentenary Commission official souvenir of the 300th anniversary celebration of Connecticut's settlement.

Snapshot packet number one shows the Council Room in the Webb House at Wethersfield, where Washington and the French general, Rochambeau, mapped plans for the campaign which led to the surrender at Yorktown that decided the Revolutionary War; the David Keene House at Canterbury; Newgate Prison at East Granby, built above the tunnels and shafts of the famous colonial copper mine there; the Wyllys mansion at Hartford, with the Charter Oak in the foreground; and Avon Church.

Packet number two contains a snapshot of Israel Putnam Memorial Park at Redding, where the Continental army was in winter quarters the season following the trials at Valley Forge; the Ely House at Ely's Landing; the falls at Kent Falls state park; Fairfield's old Academy building; Winthrop Mill at New London, known as the Old Town Mill, and the grave of Lady Fenwick of Old Saybrook.

A Tercentenary map has been published which illustrates Indian legends and life, outstanding events in Colonial and Revolutionary history, the early modes of transportation and communication, the beginnings of the principal industries and educational institutions, as well as the many beautiful churches, town meeting houses and residences built in the early days of Connecticut's history.

Dinner service plates, the designs showing important milestones in the state's history, are being provided by the Tercentenary Commission as a lasting souvenir of the 300th anniversary celebration of the first settlement in Connecticut.

Rimmed by grapes and foliage entwined with names of Colonial towns, the plates show the following historic buildings:

The old state house at Hartford; the second state house at New Haven; the Congregational church standing on Litchfield Common, and the Wyllys Mansion of Hartford with the Charter Oak in the foreground.

From April to the end of September more than 100 cities and towns will stage celebrations, reunions, home visiting days and the like. Governor Wilbur L. Cross has issued a special invitation to former residents of the state to attend the ceremonies.

A traditional "Connecticut Sabbath" will be observed October 5-6 by every house of worship in the state and also by all units of the Federal Council of Churches throughout the United States.

The spirit pervading all the celebrations is that of democracy and freedom, ideals for which Connecticut has stood since her pioneer days.

All that I shall attempt at this time is to mention a few of the memorable things in our history and achievements. And to recall a few of the famous men and women who have helped the state to give its notable contribution to the nation.

Connecticut is often only known for wooden nutmegs—a doubtful myth, or for its ancient blue laws—another facetious caricature. Allow me to mention a few incontrovertible facts concerning the good old state of Connecticut.

How many of us are aware that the original "Uncle Sam" was a Connecticut Yankee, tall, slim and —shrewd, and that the song "Yankee Doodle" was written to celebrate another Connecticut Yankee, Governor Fitch of Norwalk, whose house was long called the Yankee Doodle House, and most important of all, Connecticut has the distinction of furnishing our national government with its system of government by the model of this state.

Famous Sons and Daughters

We consider that Connecticut's best product, however, is its sons and daughters, known everywhere—among them Noah Webster, who wrote the Webster's Dictionary; Mark Twain, the greatest American humorist (wherever he was born, here he lived and died); P. T. Barnum, America's greatest showman; Lyman Beecher of Litchfield, wonderful preacher; and his gifted children, Henry Ward Beecher, probably America's greatest pulpit orator, and Harriett Beecher Stowe, author of Uncle Tom's Cabin, which had such influence in the Civil War—worth a thousand battalions; General Israel Putnam of Revolutionary fame; General Ulysses S. Grant was of Connecticut ancestry; Matthew and Priscilla Grant of Windsor, Conn., in 1635; and the first American officer killed in the late war was the patriotic Col. Raynal C. Bolling of Greenwich, chief of the Flying Corps of the United States' forces in France.

Other famous sons and daughters number Thomas Hooker, the statesman; Jonathan Trumbull, the Governor, and his son, Jonathan Trumbull, the artist; Jonathan Edwards and Horace Bushnell, two of the greatest American theologians; Lydia H. Sigourney, the poetess, and Fanny Crosby, the hymn writer; Nathan Hale, the patriot, who exclaimed as he was dying, "My sole regret is that I have only one life to give for my country." Charles Dudley Warner and Ike Marvel, the distinguished essayists; Clyde Fitch, one of the leading playwrights of America; Prof. Caleb Winchester of Wesleyan, master of literature and superb English; J. Pierpont Morgan, probably the greatest financial genius America ever produced; John Brown, the abolitionist and martyr, born at Goshen, Conn., and a host of others. Connecticut has thus furnished some of the chief leaders in theology, in law, in education, in literature, in finance, in patriotism for the whole country.

We may remember that Connecticut has been first in many things. It established the first law school in the United States at Litchfield. It organized the first school for deaf mutes at Hartford, often known as the Galladet School. The discoverer or co-discoverer of anesthesia was Horace Wells of Connecticut, and in this, Connecticut gave one of the greatest boons to suffering humanity.

We are proud that Connecticut is one of the greatest manufacturing states in the Union. If a thing isn't made in Connecticut, the machine that makes it, is! The whole world is locked up by its locks—the Yale locks. The whole world is crowned by its Danbury hats. It times the whole world by its Ansonia and Seth Thomas clocks and its Ingersoll watches. They have all gone to the ends of the earth. It invented the submarine boat, the Colt revolver, the Remington arms and the Remington typewriter. With perhaps one exception, the du Ponts of Delaware, it furnished the greatest output of ammunition for the great war of any American state.

Education Center

Besides all this, it is a business asset that Connecticut is the insurance center of the world at Hartford. It is also the educational center of America. It has a wonderfully fine group of schools and colleges, Trinity at Hartford, Wesleyan at Middletown, Connecticut Women's at New London, while at New Haven is Yale, undoubtedly one of the greatest American universities.

Connecticut is also a great colonizer. The pioneer instinct seems to have been strong in Connecticut blood, since throughout the last one hundred and fifty years natives of the state have been moving westward and southward to open new lands. Consequently, today numerous citizens in every state of the Union look back to Connecticut as the old home.

Here is a boast that has truth in it. Connecticut, above all is an honest state. The only state capitol built within its first appropriation and the surplus returned to the treasury at Hartford. It is the land of steady habits, sober, thrifty, industrious. Connecticut is also a most beautiful state, a green and pleasant land, with rolling hills and fields, with forests where the dogwood and the mountain laurel bloom; with rivers and lakes and rushing streams that still keep in their names echoes of the long Indian past; with miles of fine beaches and friendly harbors along beautiful shores; with modern growing cities and old elm-shaded villages, and with highways linking them to the modern countryside.

In a word Connecticut has surely added to the fame of America and has added lustre to all her sister states in the Union. The nation is indebted to Connecticut.

Let us remember our responsibilities to keep up the noblest traditions and to carry forward the torch of progress and of learning and of spirituality.

Let us remember as St. Paul did that we are citizens of no mean state, but of a proud and worthy state, rich in its history and great in its achievements.

Let us remember to do our worthy part, by living our lives at their best, by carrying on the highest ideals of the fathers, and by asking God's help that we may obey him with all our hearts.

CHARTER OAK: The famous oak-tree that stood upon the northern slope of the Wyllys Hill, in Hartford, Conn. The trunk was 25 feet in circumference near its roots. A large cavity, about two feet from the ground, was the traditional hiding place of the original charter of Connecticut, which Sir Edmund Andros, governor general of the New England colonies came in 1687 to receive, after King James II had decided to withdraw it.

The tree was blown down by a heavy gale on Aug. 21, 1856.

The Reynolds Family Association

The Forty-fifth Annual Reunion was held in the New England Room of the Prince George Hotel, New York City, on Saturday, October 17, 1936.

From eleven o'clock until the time for the business meeting, the members and friends gathered for the social time of greeting each other and new members and friends.

At noon, the President, Leonard J. Reynolds, of Montclair, N. J., called the meeting to order. The opening prayer was deferred until later, as the Chaplain, could not be with us until then.

Reading of the Secretary's report and likewise the Treasurer's report, were both accepted.

The Secretary read the list of the members who had passed on during the year, a silent tribute was offered to their memory. (See the obituaries.)

The place of meeting for our Forty-sixth Annual Reunion was presented. It was decided we should meet in White Plains, N. Y., October 16, 1937, Roger Smith Hotel. This was in keeping with our usual custom, of alternating every other year, in going outside of New York City.

As our President, Leonard J. Reynolds, felt he must relinquish the office of the president, having served us so faithfully, the Chairman of the Nominating Committee, Frederick G. Reynolds, presented the name of Charles F. Reynolds, of New York City, for the office. Motion was presented and carried. Mr. Charles F. Reynolds accepted with a splendid message.

As to the other Officers; upon motion of John F. Reynolds, of North Haven, Conn., the Secretary would cast one ballot, for those officers who would remain the same as in the previous years. (See page 2.)

At one o'clock the members and friends gathered for the luncheon.

The Invocation by the Chaplain, The Rev. Charles Lee Reynolds, D.D. Following the delightful luncheon, which was enjoyed by all, we were led in the singing of "America." Mrs. G. Lloyd Graff, of New York City, at the piano.

Rev. Charles Lee Reynolds, D.D., of Newark, N. J., Chaplain of the R.F.A., gave an interesting talk upon the Experiences of an Exchange Preacher in Europe, having had such a one, during the previous summer.

Harry C. Reynolds of Scranton, Pa., gave a stirring address upon Our Constitution.

Mr. J. Brierly favored with beautiful solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Graff.

Frederick G. Reynolds, a former president of the R.F.A., addressed the retiring president, Leonard J. Reynolds, mentioning his interest and faithfulness in the R.F.A.

Letters of affection were requested to be sent to the following members, usually with us at the Reunions, due to ill health were unable: Marion H. Reynolds, of Calif.; Frank V. R. Reynolds,, of Greenwich, Conn.; and Bion F. Reynolds, of Brockton, Mass.

The poem Eternal, written by the Poetess of the R.F.A., Miss Celia M. Reynolds, was read by the Secretary.

Frederick G. Reynolds presented to the Secretary as a loving tribute from the many friends in the R.F.A., a surprise gift of one hundred dollars, in recognition of her deep interest in the Association. Mrs. Rippier was deeply touched and responded with sincere appreciation.

There were many of the Family in attendance who had met with us for the first time.

With the singing of Auld Lang Sync, the Reunion closed.

The flowers upon the table were the gift of a friend.

Respectfully submitted,

(Mrs.) ANNA C. RIPPIER,

Secretary.

See pages 13, 14, 18, 22, for the names of those who attended the Reunions.

Eternal

Some things we dream of and desire shall come to us, O never!

Things that enrich our lives will stay with us forever.

Good deeds we do, good thoughts we think, right purpose and endeavor,
These are the things that make us rich,
and clothe our souls with grace
That stress of many busy days and years cannot efface.

Our minds can now but feebly grasp the thought of the eternal,
But when the dead and fallen leaves are followed by the vernal,
And, when the nut and fruit decay life springs from out their kernel,
These things we can but understand and from them come to know
That plans of God endued with life in ceaseless circuits go.

Pass with the passing years our greatest,
sweetest pleasures,
Crumbling with age advancing our closely guarded treasures,
Our highest mount of mundane bliss
but one short footstep measures.
Such things as these, however fine,
bear no comparison
With Heaven's expected blessedness when earth's hard tasks are done.

O many things we have to meet
along the way we travel Bear meanings strange and sad our minds strive vainly to unravel;
But when Eternity shall strike on time its golden gavel
We shall step forth with eyes unblurred
the future to behold
In broad and beautiful expanse where nothing can grow old.

CELIA MARY REYNOLDS.

Read at the Reunion, October 17, 1936, by the Secretary, Mrs. A. C. Rippier.

The Reynolds Family Association

The Forty-sixth Annual Reunion was held in the Ball Room of the Roger Smith Hotel, White Plains, New York, on Saturday, October 16, 1937.

The usual informal reception to members and friends was held at eleven o'clock, and an opportunity to meet many who had not met with us before, was enjoyed by all.

At noon, the President, Charles F. Reynolds of New York City, called the meeting to order. In the absence of the Chaplain, Mr. Louis W. Elliott of Katonah, N. Y., offered prayer.

Secretary's report was accepted, also the report of the Treasurer.

The Secretary read the names of the members who had passed on during the year. A silent tribute was offered. (See the obituaries.)

As Mr. Marion H. Reynolds of San Francisco, Calif., had passed on, a motion was presented and carried, a letter of sympathy to be sent to his widow, also resolutions from the R.F.A. Mr. Reynolds, had been a very faithful and active member as well as a Vice-President of the Association. Mrs. L. C. Reynolds, mother of Marion was with us, and expressed her personal gratitude for what the R.F.A. had meant to her son, later a letter was received from Mrs. M. H. Reynolds expressing her appreciation for the kind thought.

The meeting place for the next Reunion was presented, motion carried, the meeting, to be held Prince George Hotel, New York City, October 8, 1938.

Motion presented and accepted the Secretary be given the privilege to have copies of wills and records purchased, to be used in the publications.

Motion presented and accepted the Secretary receive one hundred dollars for her interest and service.

At one o'clock the members and friends gathered for the luncheon. Invocation was offered by our former president, Leonard J. Reynolds of Montclair, N. J.

Miss Florence Brady of Stamford, Conn., gave musical selections, appropriate to our early history; dressed in quaint costume. presented a pleasing program.

Miss Harriet L. Reynolds of Greenwich, Conn., gave a most interesting account of her trip to Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hoy of Glassboro, N. J., told of some of their pleasant experiences on their trip to and in Mexico.

Tributes were offered to some of our faithful members who had passed on during the year.

Felicitations were extended to those gathered who had birthdays recently and greetings to those in the sunset years of life.

The poem, October, written by our poetess, Miss Celia M. Reynolds, of Bennington, Vt., was read by the Secretary.

Beautiful flowers placed on the tables were the gift of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Travis of Lake Mahopac, N. Y.

Another beautiful day and Reunion came to a close with the singing of "America."

Respectfully submitted,

(Mrs. A. C.) ANNA C. RIPPIER,
Secretary

MARCUS TULLIUS REYNOLDS (*Dexter*⁸; *Marcus*⁷ 2 Stephens; *Nathaniel*⁴; *James*³; 2 Johns):

Born Great Barrington, Mass., Aug. 20, 1869; died March 18, 1937, Albany, N. Y. He was taken to the hospital a few days before he was to have sailed for Rome to address the American Academy of Architects on city planning, a subject with which he was most familiar. Theson of Dexter and Catherine Maley (Cuyler) Reynolds, studied at the Albany Academy and St. Paul's, Concord, N. H., from 1882 to 1886. In 1890 he was graduated from Williams College, where he was a member of the Sigma Phi fraternity. Mr. Reynolds then entered the School of Mines at Columbia University, where he was graduated in 1893 with a degree of Ph. B. Later he received his M. A. from Williams. Mr. Reynolds spent some time in Paris, Rome and Athens studying architecture. His chief local work was the removal of several blocks of old buildings in downtown Albany which gave way to the construction of the Plaza, on which the Delaware & Hudson Company built a Flemish-Gothic structure. He also had several municipal projects, including the Albany Academy and the remodeling of its old building into a home for the Board of Education. A lifelong advocate of slum eradication, won the American Economic Society prize in 1893 for his essay on "Housing of the Poor in American Cities." Albany's first building code was written by Mr. Reynolds and later revised by him. He also designed the first Albany skyscraper and built the first junior high school. He was architect for the Gideon Putnam Hotel on the Saratoga Springs Reservation. Mr. Reynolds was a collector of antiques and a genealogist. He was a member of the American Institute of Architects, the Albany Country Club and the Fort Orange Club. Also he had been an active and generous member of the Reynolds Family Association, see page 368, No. 3124 of The History of John and Sarah Reynolds of Watertown, Mass., later Stamford and Greenwich, Conn. Mr. Reynolds never married. He was survived by a nephew, Kenneth Gray Reynolds, of Albany, N. Y., who was associated with his Uncle in business.

MAJOR SAMUEL GUILFORD REYNOLDS (Lorenzo D.³; Lorenzo²; John¹):

Born Quincy, Mich., Oct. 31, 1868; died May 29, 1937, Billings, Mont. The son of Lorenzo Dennis and Elizabeth (Keeler) Reynolds; married Miss Carrie Brown, May 21, 1896, Big Rapids, Mich., who was born there, Mar. 13, 1872, daughter of Judge Michael and Mary Alice (Osburn) Brown. Known in governmental, lodge and banking circles throughout the northwest, Major Reynolds had been a resident of Billings since 1895, except for the time he was stationed on the reservation as agent and later superintendent. Major Reynolds was considered one of the outstanding authorities on the story of the Custer battle. He supplied information to Arthur Chapman for a Saturday Evening Post story some years ago based upon the memorable battle of 1876. His knowledge of the battle was gained from association with historical characters of that time. He counted among his friends Major General Godfrey, Gen. Fred Funston, and President Theodore Roosevelt, and was a confidant of the Chief Two Moons, Cheyenne leader in the Custer battle. He was one of the first civilian agents placed in charge of Crow Indian reservation. Administration of the reserves had been under the war department and shortly before his appointment it has been transferred to the interior department. The war department had placed officers in the capacity of major in charge of the reservations, and the title was passed gratuitously on to the early successors to the war department attaches. Mr. Reynolds acquired the honorary title of major through his work on the Indian reservation, was director of the tenth district of Montana of the United States census in 1930. He was an ardent Republican and was active in the party during his entire life. Major Reynolds was a charter member of the Billings Elks lodge and served as exalted ruler at one time. In 1927 he was made a life member of the antlered order. He was a member of Knights Templar, being a life member of Saladin temple in Grand Rapids, Mich. Before coming to Montana he was an active member of the Knights of Pythias. In later years was a Banker and Stockman. A Methodist; a member of and deeply interested in the R.F.A. Survived by his widow, a son, Michael B. Reynolds, three daughters, Mrs. E. W. Rieboth, Mrs. Leslie V. Mullen, all of Billings, Mont., and Mrs. Leland Harper, of Missoula, Mont., also five grandchildren.

WILLIAM EDGAR REYNOLDS (William):

Born Bedford Hills, N. Y., Nov. 1, 1868; died there Oct. 8, 1937, buried Buxton Cemetery. The son of William Henry Harrison and Susan A. (Barrett) Reynolds; married Miss Edith M. Birdsall, June 29, 1898, Bedford Station, N. Y.; born July 17, 1876, Bedford Hills, N. Y. Mr. Reynolds was a carpenter; Methodist; Rep.; member of the Bedford Hills Fire Dept., and the Bedford Farmers' Club. Survived by his widow, also nieces and nephews.

NAPOLÉON B. REYNOLDS:

Born at Factoryville, Pa., Nov. 6, 1849; died near his birthplace, Oct. 30, 1937, and was interred in Evergreen Cemetery, Factoryville, Pa. He treasured his friendships and regarded Polonios' Matchless Advice to His Son, who said "Those friends thou hast, and their adoption tried, grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel." He was a friend of the weak; generations of children who loved him, came, and many went hence, but always, without children of his own, he was "Uncle" to them all.

Research

87. JOHN RUNNELS married Caroline Kelly in Tennessee, about 1851 or 2; they migrated to Illinois by boat (Tenn. and Ohio Rivers.) Their only son, was born on the boat, before they had reached their new home in Illinois.

John and Caroline died before he was two years old, probably buried in Illinois. Their son was Oliver Perry Reynolds, b., 1852.

He was raised in the family of Dan Shipton, as one of their own children.

Oliver P. Runnels married Lucy Frances Moses, at Atlantic, Ia., April 20, 1880, the daughter of Jefferson Davis and Elizabeth (Halferty) Moses who was born June 26, 1864, Greenbrier County, West Va. She died Sept. 11, 1909, in Kalamazoo, Mich. Oliver P. Runnels, was in the business of raising and selling cattle; later moved to Nebraska, where he died, Jan. 4, 1911, Clearwater, Nebr.

Record of children I have. Information as to the parentage of John above is wanted by Mrs. Ethel R. Harrington, Fairmont, Calif.

88. CORNELIUS REYNOLDS, SR. had the following children: William, Ann Beasley; Margaret Leandall; Mary Goodlow; Sarah and Cornelius, Jr., who was of Essex Co., Va., who married Martha, they had a daughter, Elizabeth, (d. 1788); m. Thomas Rucker, (d. 1763) came from England with his brother, John, 1700, settled in Culpeper Co., Va.

Information wanted by Mrs. C. Wilson, Hot Springs, Ark.

89. WILLIAM T. REYNOLDS married Isabell Delaney, they had a son, Robert Wesley Reynolds of Pulaski Co., Ky., who married Sarah Wilson, b. 1859; they had a daughter, Isabell Reynolds, b. 1869.

Information wanted of the parents of William T. Reynolds.

90. JOHN REYNOLDS, born Nov. 9, 1806 in Warren Co., Tenn., m. Phebe Ramsey, b. Cumberland Co., Va., Jan. 10, 1813, the daughter of William and Sarah Ramsey, among the children of John and Phebe (Ramsey) Reynolds was Martha Menurva Reynolds, b. Booneville, Mo.

Wanted the parents of John Reynolds. Mrs. Sarah M. Clayton, Alto Loma, Calif.

91. EL (perhaps the name was Elsbury) REYNOLDS, he had sons by his first wife, Tolivar, El, William and James Reynolds. William, b. Mar. 11, 1810, probably Hawkins Co., Tenn., died Feb. 3, 1852, Bloomfield, Mo.; m. Ann Curry, of Hawkins Co., Tenn., b. Jan. 11, 1810; d. Jan. 20, 1901, Bloomfield, Mo. 9 children; George; Tolivar; Henry; John; Sam; Elizabeth; Lucretia; Cinda; Marya and William.

Wanted the parents of El Reynolds, D. M. Scism, Oklahoma City, Okla.

92. AMY REYNOLDS married Jotham Curtiss in Fitchville, Huron Co., O., September 9, 1839. Information wanted of her parents.

OCTOBER

Once again October meets us,
With its varied-colored banners waving in the Autumn breeze.
And its cheery spirit greets us
From brilliant-draped mountains and from roadside bordering trees.

Each year October does release us From our common occupations which sometimes our minds have bored,
And it always comes to please us
For it brings the social pleasure that for us the year has stored.

Tie of kinship that unites us Draws us closer at this season which together we now spend
At the banquet which delights us,
And will our feet with a new vigor along life's further pathway send.

For the kindness that has blessed us,
With the bounty of this board and all the glad things that our lives have known
For the help when aught depressed us.
The thanks that well up in our hearts are due to God and Him alone.

CELIA MARY REYNOLDS.

MOUNT PLEASANT, MICHIGAN

(See pages 49-120 of the 31st [1922] Annual)

JAMES¹ REYNOLDS, Emigrant and Colonist, Progenitor of the most numerous branch of the Reynolds Family in America, was born in England, 1620, or about; died in (North) Kingstown, 1700, before Oct. 14. He married, undoubtedly in Plymouth Colony, 1647, or before, DEBORAH, born in, 1620, or after, died in (North) Kingstown, after 1684, Feb. 25, but before 1692, April 3.

Aug. ..., 1643, James Reynolds was in Plymouth Colony and was counted among those able to bear arms, that is, he was then over 16 years of age.

May 3, 1665, he and others presented a petition for the accommodation of land in Kings Province, which petition was granted.

Savage in his Genealogical Dictionary gives little of value except to confirm the above.

Jan. 29, 1668, he and son John purchased of Walter Todd 100 acres, but the deed was not delivered to them until Dec. 26, 1673, on which date James, assigned his rights to his son John.

Nov. 12, 1669, he purchased of John Sweet 50 acres, which he assigned to his son John, Dec. 26, 1673.

About a mile south of the homestead of James Reynolds, a road runs nearly east from the Pequot Path. Both of the above parcels of land were bounded on the north by this road, the west end of the farm being bounded by the Pequot Path.

May 20, 1671, James Reynolds and others desire "to know whither or noe this Court on behalf of the Colony doe lay claim to their possessions, which they do now inhabit."

May 20, 1671, he took the oath of allegiance.

1671,, he was elected Constable.

Sept. 25, 1671, he was elected one of the two tax assessors for the region between Pettaquamscott and Warwick.

Apr. ..., 1677, James Reynolds and others were taken prisoners and carried to Hartford in the Connecticut Colony.

May 1, 1677, James Reynolds and others petitioned the General Assembly

* Previous to the publishing of the 31st Annual Report of the Reynolds Family Association, the author furnished to Mr. Henry Suydam Reynolds of New York City, an outline of the early generations of James Reynolds of Quidnessett, together with maps and other information. Mr. Reynolds then made a very thorough investigation and added much valuable information, and his findings were published in the 31st Annual, q. v. His work was excellent and contained very few errors, such errors being mostly in his notes and suggestions; however, since his records were not given in the same form as the records that the author furnished of the second generation, it seems best to now publish the first generation in a similar form. Mr. Henry Suydam Reynolds gave the author full credit for assistance, see 31st Annual, bottom of page 77.

"for instruction, assistance, and advice as to the oppressions they suffer under the Colony of Connecticut."

May 2, 1677, a letter was addressed by the Colony of R. I. by its Clerk, John Sanford, to James Reynolds and others who were freemen and inhabitants of this jurisdiction. "That you the Colony of Connecticut have of late by force taken them from their habitations and extorted bonds from them by which they stand in obliged to appear at your Court on the 10th instant."

May 24, 1677, James Reynolds and the others who had been carried away prisoners to Hartford, had a letter written to them by the R. I. authorities: "that you might receive all suitable encouragement that as you continue true to your engagement to this colony and upon that account are kept prisoners, we shall equally bear your charges of imprisonment, and with all expedition address ourselves to his Majesty for relief."

July 29, 1679, James Reynolds and 41 other inhabitants of Narragansett petitioned the King that he "would put an end to these differences about the government thereof, which hath been so fatal to the prosperity of the place; animosities still arising in people's minds as they stand affected to this or that government."

Feb. 21, 1684, James Reynolds and Deborah his wife deeded to son James 100 acres of land, the same being all that portion of the homestead farm lying east of the brook. Oct. 15, 1692, James Reynolds, Jr., and Mary his wife deeded to Joseph Reynolds, son of his loving brother, Joseph Reynolds, the above-mentioned 100 acres of land, Mary to have a life interest in the estate, the deed to be null and void if there was issue after the making of the deed. June 12, 1713, Joseph Reynolds and Susannah his wife deeded this land to Jonathan Hill of Prudence, thus proving that James Reynolds, Jr., and Mary his wife had no issue excepting son James, born Feb. 20, 1686, and who died in infancy.

Feb. 25, 1684, James Reynolds and Deborah his wife deeded to son Francis 50 acres of land, the same being all that portion of the homestead farm lying west of the brook, the conditions of the transfer being, (1) that Deborah, wife of James Reynolds, Sr., should have a life interest in the estate, (2) that James Reynolds, Jr., should have an interest in and use of the house until he should be ready to build on his own land, (3) that Francis was to share equally the expense of building the house of his brother, James Reynolds, Jr. This portion of the homestead of James¹ Reynolds has always remained in the Reynolds family and now it is owned by Mr. John Vaughn Essex, husband of Mary⁷ E. Reynolds (William⁶, William⁵, Jabez⁴, Jabez³, Francis², James¹).

The Reynolds burial ground is located upon this portion of the old homestead farm. The descriptions given in the two above deeds prove conclusively that the 150-acre homestead on which James¹ Reynolds settled was the farm allotted to Walter Cunngrave by the Ouidnessett Purchasers, said land being bounded north and west by the Potowomut River (at various times called Greene's River, Mill River and Reynolds' River), and divided into two unequal portions by the brook that flows north into the said river. Just across the River was the homestead of James Greene, therefore, considering the limited means of travel, it is not strange that three of the sons of James¹ Reynolds married three of the daughters of James Greene.

June 23, 1686, "It is ordered that ye bounds of ye towne of Rochester in ye Kings Province shall be accounted to begin at the Mill river to ye eastward of James Reynolds, Sr., his house: etc."

June 16, 1687, James Reynolds was appointed an overseer of the poor for the town of Rochester.

July 14, 1687, James Reynolds and others were concerned in a dispute over the grass lands in the French or Huguenot settlement. The other members of the family interested in this matter were James, Jr., Joseph, Henry and Francis.

Sept. . . , 1688, James Reynolds was elected a grand jurymen.

Feb. 26, 1690, James Reynolds was chosen Conservator of the Peace.

April 3, 1692, he deeded to Thomas Nichols and Mercy his wife, "my negro slave Elizabeth and her child."

May 7, 1694, he purchased of Samuel Wayte 50 acres of land the which he deeded to his son Francis Reynolds, April 13, 1695.

April 16, 1695, he deeded to his son Francis his negro man known by the name of Tom or Thomas.

Feb. 5, 1696, he purchased of Thomas Harris 50 acres of land the which he deeded to his son Francis Reynolds, Feb. 12, 1697.

Feb. 12, 1696, he purchased of Joseph Whipple 55 acres of land the which he deeded to his son Henry Reynolds, March 22, 1699.

Dec. 21, 1696, his name was on the list of freemen for the town of Kingstown.

Jan. 25, 1699, he deeded to his son Francis Reynolds his negro boy named John, binding the said son Francis to release the boy when he arrives at the age of thirty years. The bond was dated Sept. 21, 1700.

June 5, 1699, he ratified a deed to granddaughter Sarah Ayres and her male heirs, having previously omitted the word heirs when deeding to son John. This refers to the land bought of John Sweet, Nov. 12, 1669, and assigned Dec. 26, 1673. Sarah Reynolds, daughter of John Reynolds, deceased, married Thomas Ayres 1695, or about. The ratifying of this deed so that the land might descend to Sarah Reynolds-Ayres, is excellent proof that her brother John Reynolds had died.

Sept. 21, 1700, John Sweet made a statement relative to a slave named Betty previously given to him and his wife Deborah by James¹ Reynolds, agreeing to set the said slave free at the age of 30 years.

Sept. 21, 1700, James Reynolds, Jr., bound himself to set free a certain slave named Tom at the age of 30 years.

No deed has ever been found showing how James¹ Reynolds obtained a title to his 150-acre homestead farm.

The parcels of land purchased of Wayte, Harris and Whipple, all were bounded on the west by the Pequot Path and were located about half way between the James¹ Reynolds homestead and the land that the said James deeded to his son John Reynolds.

NOTES

Kingstown was incorporated.....Oct. 28, 1674
 Divided into North and South Kingstown.....Feb. 26, 1723
 Exeter was taken from North Kingstown.....March 8, 1743

This means that the homestead of James¹ Reynolds was first in that part of the Narragansett Country called Quidnessett, then in Kingstown and finally in North Kingstown. It also means that the 727-acre purchase was first in Kingstown, then in North Kingstown and finally in Exeter.

Previous to Sept. 3, 1752, two systems of reckoning time were in use, in one the year began March 25th and March was considered the first month of the year, in the other the year began Jan. 1st. This caused dates between Jan. 1st and March 25th to be double dated, e.g., 1742-3, Feb. 27, or 1742½, Feb. 27. Some used one system, some used the other and some indicated both as above. Whenever the author has known that the date was given old style or in both styles, he has given the dates new style.

Relative to the various purchases, you are referred to Potter's Early Narragansett History, the Fones' Records and to standard histories of Rhode Island.

I have nearly all of the older deeds in full, but they would be of no use to you as the boundaries are given almost entirely by the lands of the adjoining neighbors. I have located the lands and I know that the locations are correct. On the map you will notice a private driveway running west from the road to East Greenwich into the land owned by Joseph Reynolds, Sr. This locates his house very nicely. Were you to go where I have located the homestead of Joseph Reynolds, Sr., and Jr., and of Samuel Reynolds, I doubt very much if the present owners would know that these men ever owned these lands; in fact, I doubt if they ever heard of the N. W. Pettaquamscott Line.

Mrs. Elizabeth Browning of London, England. Born 1597 and married 1615. Her husband's name is not known, but she married a Palmer after Browning's death, and this man's will mentions his stepsons. They were apparently strong non-conformists.

Nathaniel Browning, one of the sons of Elizabeth, was born 1618, and came to America in 1640, first to Boston, then to Portsmouth, R. I., where he married Sarah Freeborn, formerly of Ipswich, England. He was a freeman, which meant an important and respected member of the community. He purchased a dwelling in Warwick, R. I., for three pounds of wampum. His son

William Browning, 1651-1730, married Rebecca Wilbur. Left will in which he bequeaths a negro woman, land at Point Judith, etc. Son

Samuel born 1688. Owned much land in South Kingston, R. I., and is mentioned in various deeds, etc. Married Mercy Clark and for a second wife, a Wilbur, who was probably the mother of the youngest son,

Isaac, born 1726, married Elizabeth Milliman at S. Kingston. His son

Isaac Browning, Jr., born 1752. This was probably the Isaac Brownell who was with Gen. Schuyler in the Revolution. (It is said that the name was often used for Browning.) His wife was Margaret Their daughter was Joanna Bancroft Browning, born, married Thomas Reynolds at Richmond, R. I., on October 5, 1825. Children as given above.

c My Grandfather's name was William Reynolds and settled in Richmond, R. I., where the Reynolds' factory now stands. My grandfather, William Reynolds, had four sons, William, Robert, Gideon and Jesse Reynolds. William and Gideon settled in the State of New York. Robert and Jesse settled in Richmond on the Homestead farm, in the neighborhood of the factory above mentioned. Wm. Reynolds 2nd had a number of sons, Thomas, called Col. Tom, Parley and Benjamin and two or three others. Robert Reynolds had five sons, Wm., Wells, Robert, Thomas and Evan. Gideon Reynolds had four sons. Jesse had James Reynolds settled in Richmond on place owned by his father. Jesse referred to as Judge Reynolds.

MY GRANDFATHER

By DANIEL CARPENTER REYNOLDS*

With honest pride I write whene'er I can
Of such a wise and good old gentleman,
Whose store of wisdom was not learned at school
Beneath a master's eye, a master's rule,
(Although in younger days I think he said
He often felt the ferule on his head).
But in the world, that school-room broad and free,
Where common sense is taught, and liberty
Of thought and speech and action, glorious rights,
In which each free-born soul and heart delights,
That teaches man to bend no servile knee
Save Unto Him, the one Divinity.
Perhaps you've seen him in the walks of men,
A hale old man, yet three-score years and ten,
Who walks erect, as if he'd have you know
He's quite as spry as he was years ago;
And though his legs are just a trifle bent,
His staff is less for use than ornament.
He loves to stop and chat upon the street
With some old friend whom he will chance to meet,
And argues trade with such a serious air
As if it all depended on his care.
A kindly humor twinkles in his eye
When he recalls the scenes of days gone by;
And if we've often heard his jokes before,
We're always glad to laugh at them once more.
Aye, now and then he gives the times a hit
That would do honor to a dinner wit,—
His ancient clothes and quaint old-fashioned ways
He will not change for those of modern days.
And when I think of what we undergo
To keep well dressed,—to make a handsome show.
I do not wonder much he clings at last
To his old fashions we consider past.
To those he loves his bounty has no end;
In him the needy find a willing friend.
And when he dies there's many in the land
Will look in vain for such a generous hand.
His faith is child-like, simple, pure and true,
His well-worn Bible is the only view
He takes for what our safest guide must be,
For earthly life,—for all eternity.
A grand old man, with such a noble creed,
Offending none by any word or deed,
Men well can write these words with one accord.
He loved mankind and trusted in his Lord.

The records of this family to be continued in the next publication. Revolutionary War Record of Elisha Reynolds. Pension Claim, W. 813.

Elisha Reynolds was born August 29, 1763, in North Kingston, Rhode Island, and was the son of Elisha Reynolds; his father was a resident of Exeter, Rhode Island, during the Revolutionary War.

While a resident of Exeter, Rhode Island, Elisha Reynolds enlisted November 1, 1776, served as private in Captain Hawley's company, Col. Charles Dyer's Rhode Island regiment; August 7, 1777, at Boston Neck, he was wounded in his left arm by a musket ball, went home on furlough where he remained under treatment of a surgeon until April 1778, when he returned to his company, then commanded by Capt. Jonathan Bates and served fifteen days. He served four other tours, the first from August 1778, twenty days as private in Capt. Jonathan Bates' company, Charles Dyer's Rhode Island regiment, and was in General Sullivan's Rhode Island expedition. In that year he moved from Rhode Island to Alburgh, Vermont, and in 1779 to Berlin, Rensselaer Co., New York, and during 1779 and 1780, served two months in Capt. Samuel Shaw's company, Col. Henry K. Van Rensselaer's New York regiment; during the summer of 1780, one month as private under Lt. Stephen Randall and Col. Abbott in the Vermont troops and from the winter of 1781, eleven months as private in Capt. Dyre's company, Col. Ebenezer Walbridge's Vermont regiment. During the service rendered above he served as substitute at various times for his father, Elisha Reynolds, and for Benjamin Reynolds, Junior, relationship not stated.

On account of his service in the Revolutionary War, Elisha Reynolds was allowed pension on his application executed January 8, 1834, at which time he was living in Isle La Motte, Grand Isle Co., Vt.

He died November 15, 1840, Isle La Motte, Vt.

Elisha Reynolds married December 20, 1834, in Isle La Motte, Grand Isle Co., Vt., Elizabeth Hoxie.

Soldier's widow, Elizabeth Reynolds was allowed pension on her application executed April 29, 1853, at which time she was aged seventy-two years and a resident of Isle La Motte, Vermont.

Elizabeth Reynolds, a pensioner of the Revolutionary War, Certificate No. 2,213, Vermont Agency, and widow of Elisha Reynolds, died February 4, 1857, in Isle La Motte, Vermont. On July 21, 1857, D. V. Goodsell, was appointed administrator of the estate of Elizabeth Reynolds. The arrears of pension due at date of death, covering the period from September 4, 1856 to February 4, 1857, were paid in Burlington, Vt., in July, 1857, to D. V. Goodsell, adm.

The records of Elisha Reynolds, son of Henry and Mehitabel (Waite) Reynolds, who married Elizabeth Barber, will appear in the next Annual. (Elisha⁵; Henry⁴; John³; Henry² James¹)

THE ROGERS LINE

(From the Hudson Mohawk Genealogical and Family Memoirs, prepared by Cuyler Reynolds, Vol. III, page 1045)

James Rogers of Newport, R. I., died in 1676; his son James² was born in Newport, R. I., about 1650; his son, Capt. James³ was born in 1685. Many of the Family were seafaring men and masters of vessels. Capt. James Rogers lived near Westerly, R. I., where he died. He married and his son, James, founded the family in New York State, whose record follows: Rev. or Elder James,⁴ son of Capt. James, was born in 1720, died May 25, 1775. He was a member of the Colony of Rhode Island emigrants who settled in Saratoga County, N. Y., between 1760 and 1780. He came from near Westerly, R. I., and James, his son, settled in the town of Greenwich, Washington Co., N. Y., in 1772, and the Elder came with him, and occasionally preached to the people, but was not settled over any church. His farm lay in the town of Greenwich, at the junction of the Hudson River and Batten Kill. In 1777 Gen. Burgoyne, with his army, encamped on the farm, while Gen. Gates with his troops lay on the west side of the Hudson. To avoid the horrors of a battle that was momentarily expected. James Rogers Jr., with his wife and children, in a wagon drawn by oxen set out for Bennington, Vt., arriving in time to witness the Battle of Bennington, and as Mrs. Rogers expressed it, "jumping out of the frying pan into the fire." Rev. James Rogers married Mercy Tefft, she was born 1715; died Mar. 25, 1781. Children: James⁵, b. 1746, d. 1796; Thomas, twin with James, and Elizabeth.

Mrs. F. H. Cronkhite of Hudson Falls, N. Y., claims Elder James Rogers was the maternal grandfather of John Reynolds.⁶ (See p. 62-64 of the R.F.A. Annual, 1924-25.) Mrs. Cronkhite is a great granddaughter of Maria Reynolds Austin; who was a granddaughter of George and Elizabeth (Rogers) Reynolds. (See p. 56 of the R.F.A. 1924-25.)

Sarah and Deborah Reynolds

- | | | |
|------|-----|--|
| Page | No. | |
| 67 | 212 | Sarah Reynolds, "the brave girl of the Revolution," was the daughter of Nathaniel and Sarah (Lockwood) Reynolds; | was born Stanwich-Greenwich, Conn., Feb. 8, 1762; died August 31, 1849; married Lieut. Josiah Smith, March 29, 1784, Stamford, Conn.

Their son, Josiah Smith married Betsy Lockwood; their daughter Sarah, married Thomas G. Willson; they were the parents of James G. Willson and Mrs. Freeman H. Merritt,|| of Sebasco Estates Maine, who supplies this record.

The following excerpt is taken from the Lockwood Genealogy and a similar account is held by the Stamford Historical Society.

"During the Revolutionary War, the British with their Tory friends, went to the house of Mr. Natheaniel Reynolds, in Stanwich, within the Township of Greenwich, Conn., near Long Island Sound to drive away his cattle, when his daughter Sarah unterrified by the presence of the marauders, ran out of the house and drove the cattle back to their quarters. In a few days the enemy having apparently recovered their courage, made another raid upon the cattle when the dauntless girl, Sarah, again came to the rescue, whereupon the leader of the band commanded her to leave or he would fire upon her. 'Fire then!' replied the Connecticut girl, when he turned to his men and said, 'Let her have them.' Her courage and intrepidity having secured her Father's property from further molestation."

- 101 214 Deborah Reynolds, sister to Sarah Reynolds, was born Stanwich-Greenwich, Conn., May 13, 1766; died May 15, 1857; married Frederick Lockwood.

Deborah Reynolds assisted her sister, Sarah in saving her Father's cattle, while he was away fighting in the war. This record from Nelson U. Lockwood, of Stamford, Conn., a descendant of Deborah (Reynolds) and Frederick Lockwood and a member of the R.F.A.¶

THE HOME OF JOHN REYNOLDS Washington Co. Md. Line

(See page 203, of the 31st (1922) R. F. A. Annual.)

Ancestral Home of JOHN REYNOLDS of Washington County, Maryland*

John Reynolds purchased the house and several hundred acres of land in 1761. The house has Revolutionary and Civil War history.

On page 223 of the 31st (1922) R. F. Annual, is the story of Margaret (Smith) Reynolds and her tragic capture by the Wyandote Indians. It was back to this house that she brought her children.

The farm was fought over during the Battle of Antietam in the Civil War. The Bloody Lane of that battle's history is the lane that leads into the house from the high-road, although it can not be seen in the picture.

The house is little changed from those days of 1761. The walls are of stone, three feet thick, covered by clap-board. There are nine large rooms with fireplaces in each of those on the ground floor. The doors have the original hardware.

Picture of the "John Reynolds" homestead, is the courtesy of Mrs. E. D. McNelly, Lakewood, O.

In the corner of one room covered now by wall paper is a hole cut from the ceiling by John Reynolds to make room for the wall sweep clock, the clock evidently made by himself for he was a clock-maker.

There is a secret room in the back of the house in which the present owners hid their valuables and food during the battle of Antietam.

The spring house at the right with the willow trees bending over it has a big room with an immense fireplace in which the original crane and kettle still hang. Descendants of John Reynolds treasure tales handed down of the taffy pulls, corn pops and other gay parties held in this room; a blazing fire of logs, "old Rafe" as chaperon sleeping in the chimney corner. Outside at the end is the spring that has never been known to run dry.

COMMENCING

The History and Records of

HENRY REYNOLDS

of Chichester, Pa., later of Cecil County, Md.

(Many of the later descendants going into Penna., Ind., and the South)

HENRY REYNOLDS, third son of William and Margaret (Exton) Reynolds, was born in England, 1655. Henry sailed from Chichester, England, in 1676, and after a tempestuous voyage of twenty-two weeks landed at Burlington, New Jersey, where he married, November 10, 1678, Prudence,^a daughter of William and Prudence Clayton. He and his wife moved some time prior to 1680, to Chichester, Pa. (then called Marcus Hook), where he died August 7, 1724. Prudence Reynolds died April 2, 1728.

Henry Reynolds^b was a prominent citizen of Marcus Hook in 1680. Served on the first Grand Jury held under Proprietary Government. Henry Reynolds and his wife, Prudence, with their family were members with the Friends. He entered lots No. 5 and 9 of the original survey, made in 1702, called Nottingham Township, by the Authorities of Pa., and was divided into 37 parts, hence the name "Nottingham lotts."

The ancestors had obtained that township from William Penn, and had considered themselves as being residents of Penna., until the location of the Mason and Dixon Line had demonstrated that the "Nottingham Lotts" were in the Province of Maryland.

William Clayton^c (son of Thomas), from Chichester, Eng., in the Kent, to N. J., 1677, settled at Burlington; one of several commrs. from London sent out by proprs. of N. J. to purchase land from the Indians; moved to Pa., near Chester. Member of Provincial Council; presided at first meeting under govt. of William Penn; act'g Gov. of Pa., 1684-5; member Gov's Council during drafting of Great Charter; married Prudence

Children of Henry and Prudence (Clayton) Reynolds were:

1. Margaret, b. May 25, 1680;
2. Mary, b. Sept. 13, 1682; m.
- *3. Francis, b. Aug. 15, 1684; m. Elizabeth Acton 1712;
4. Prudenec, Mar. 20, 1687;
5. Deborah, b. April 16, 1689;
