STONEWALLS

"Stonewalls" are stubborn Reynolds ancestors of members who refuse to be found or connected with a progenitor. This was an old section of "Reynolds Recollections" that I would like to see revived! We will continue these stonewalls in future issues. Send you Stonewalls to Larry "Joe" Reynolds at Joe.Reynolds@ReynoldsFamily.org. Please send help if you can, including source of information when possible. Responses will be published as received.

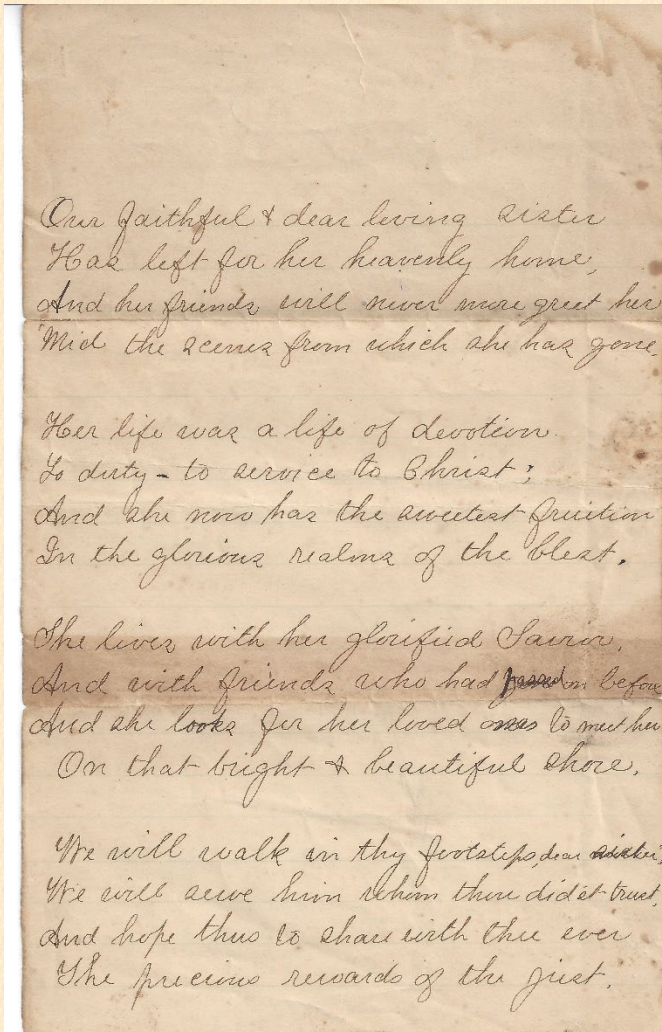

WANTED

REYNOLDS MALE FOR YDNA TEST

Some Reynolds history hunters are looking for other collaborator-cousins to share traditional research and test YDNA hypotheses. One Reynolds ancestor that remains a bit of a mystery is the William Reynolds that married Martha Cole in Culpeper Co., VA, and left a will naming over a dozen children in Pittsylvania Co., VA, in 1791. While strong evidence exists connecting William as the son of John Reynolds—whose will was proven in Culpeper Co. in Aug 1784—we'd like to uncover the YDNA signature of this group of Reynoldses to aid further research. If you are connected to this Reynolds line, please be in touch with tommyjoereynolds@gmail.com.

Chapter 1

(This article was originally published in the 1922 RFA Annual. Further additions and corrections were published in later annuals, and these have been incorporated into this article.)

This article superseded the sketch of John of Weymouth in the 1907 RFA Report. Mrs. Fosdick died Feb. 22, 1904, a month after the following preface to this genealogy was written. At her death it was not quite completed. From 1904 until 1921 it lay almost untouched until her brother, Giles L. Reynolds, once President of the Association, decided to go over it carefully and to bring the whole line down to 1922. A part of it, at least, is complete to that date, but many other branches of it have not been followed down over the centuries. A few statements and dates, shown by later researches to have been inexact or wrong, were taken out by Marion H. Reynolds. The John of Weymouth line should be read carefully and then compared with the James of N. Kingstown genealogy. The great development of these two families is not dissimilar.

PREFACE

For years it has been my desire to see published a history and genealogy of the Descendants of John Reynolds of Weymouth. Realizing that each passing year made it more difficult to secure old family records and to trace the posterity of those born during the eighteenth century, I was led to undertake this work in 1890. Since then I have devoted to it all the time that could possibly be spared from a busy life. For those of the tribe of John of Weymouth, who have aided me in this work, cheerfully furnished the required facts, and in every way tried to make the work a success, I am under great obligations and extend the heartiest words of thanks.

I trust that this book will be an incentive to the future preservation of family records, that it will foster a spirit of honest Americanism, pride in an ancestry for two hundred and seventy years faithful to the spirit and institutions of America, and that no future cause in the interest of religion, patriotism and good government will ever lack supporters and defenders among us and our descendants.

At the commencement of these researches into the genealogy of the Reynolds family some twelve years since, it was not my intention to go further than tracing my own lineage to my earliest ancestor in this country. It was my recreation from other duties, but as I went on my interest increased, and curiosity was awakened to know the descent of others as well as myself who inherited our surname. Ours is one of the small family groups not as yet certainly connected with other families of our name, several of whom lived at an early date in Connecticut and elsewhere in New England. The same names occurring in succeeding generations in the Wethersfield and Stonington, Conn. families may, however, be an indication of some kinship between them. After tracing my family back to John Reynolds of Weymouth, Mass. and Stonington, Conn., and trying to connect him, first with the Rhode Island family, then with the Wethersfield family, I still had no thought of publishing the results of the search, expecting only to leave them in safe keeping until they might perhaps some day be added to similar accounts furnished by descendants of other families of the Reynolds name, thus making a work of more general interest and one more worthy of being called a family genealogy. But the interest of my immediate relatives in their family history had become in the meantime much quickened through hearing from time to time of the results of my investigations, and they are now desirous to see them preserved in some more enduring form. Yielding, therefore, to their wishes in the matter, especially to those of my brothers, Wilson C. Reynolds of East Haddam, Conn., Ephraim O. Reynolds of Lyme, Conn., and Giles L. Reynolds of Philadelphia, Penn., who have undertaken the expense of publication, these records have been prepared for that purpose and are now offered to our family. No effort nor toil, nor expense, in my power has been spared. I have made careful and thorough examination of all public and private records that promised to throw light upon this matter and have held correspondence with a great number of individuals in different and distant parts of the country. It is hoped that what is here contained may prove also of some assistance to inquiring descendants of other branches of the Reynolds family, should it be only by relieving them from the need of search in one already explored direction. There is still a large work in Connecticut and Rhode Island waiting for some future genealogist.

In searching for additional material regarding our first Stonington ancestor, I have had assistance from Miss Charlotte Goldthwait of Hartford, compiler of the Boardman Genealogy, who established his earlier residence at Weymouth, and has prepared the account of him here given.

A BLAST FROM THE PAST

From the 1922 Annual 100 years ago!

Lieut. Gov. John J. Reynolds

Of Wickford, R.I., son of Jonathan for whom he was given his middle name, was b. North Kingstown, R.I., Dec 7, 1812. As Republican he represented his Town in both branches of the Rhode Island Legislature; 1854 was elected Lieutenant-Governor; Trustee State Normal School. 1860; Delegate to National Union Presidential Convention, 1864. In 1836, at the age of 24, he was elected Director of the North Kingstown Bank; 1851, on the death of his father, he was made President thereof. When this bank in August, 1865, became the Wickford National Bank, he became President of the new institution until his death.

John J. Reynolds
Lieut. Governor of Rhode Island

In 1824-25 he attended school at Plainfield, Conn., then noted for its educational facilities, which attracted pupils from all parts of the country. He then attended school at home. He was for some years Trustee of Washington Academy until the adoption of our public school system. Later he was Treasurer of the new public school district and he contributed generously to the enlargement and improvement of the grounds of the public school at Wickford.

He never considered it his duty to unite with any religious denomination, but he has been at attendant of the Episcopal Church. From 1847 he has been a vestryman of St. Paul's, Wickford, and by performing his duties in that relation and in contributing to the temporal wants of the Church he has shown his interest in religious welfare.

He died at Wickford, R. I., October 17, 1908, act. 95. He was of the James of Kingstown Branch of the Reynolds Family. April 9, 1840, he married Hannah Congdon, dau. Benjamin & Phoebe (Bailey) Congdon. She was b. June 21, 1814. They had five children:

JAMES, d. Feb 28, 1891, m. Ellen A. Chadsey, dau. Alfred B. & Susan (Nichols) Chadsey. They had two sons, Albert Chadsey Reynolds, who lives Ontario, Calif.; Ralph Reynolds, who lives El Centro, Calif. The latter has son Robert Davell Reynolds, b. Feb 5, 1914.

JOSEPH C., d. Feb. 26, 1848.

MARY, m. Rev. Elias J. Foote, then of Trenton, N. J. He d. June 18, 1912. They had one dau., Ethelwyn Reynolds Foote, b. June 14, 1887, m. Victor H. Solaini. The latter had two children; Victoria and Wm. Reynolds Solanin.

EMMA, who d. April 14, 1880.

JOSEPH W., who d. April 14, 1880.

The Governor was an active, interested member of the REYNOLDS FAMILY ASSOCIATION almost from its founding and his descendants have continued his interest.

I came upon this poem a couple of years ago and while revising my book I found it again. I thought I would share it with you. It always makes me think of my Confederate ancestors. (Editor Joe Reynolds)

DEAR ANCESTOR

Your tombstone stands among the rest.
Neglected and alone.
The name and date are chiseled out
On polished marble and stone.

It reaches out to all who care
It is too late to mourn.
You did not know that I exist.
You died and I was born.

Yet each of us are cells of you
In flesh, in blood, in bone.
Our blood contracts and beats a pulse
Entirely not our own.

Dear Ancestor, the place you filled
One hundred and forty years ago,
Spreads out among the ones you left
Who would have loved you so.

I wonder if you lived and loved
I wonder if you knew
That someday I would find this spot
And come to visit you.

REYNOLDS' CASTLE

Captain's Castle - This unique structure in Cameron, Oklahoma, was built by Captain J.E. Reynolds in 1880. Oklahoma's Historic Castle.

Without doubt, one of the most unique private residences in the South is the Captain's or Reynolds' Castle in the small community of Cameron, Oklahoma. Cameron is located in LeFlore County, between the cities of Fort Smith, Arkansas and Poteau, Oklahoma.

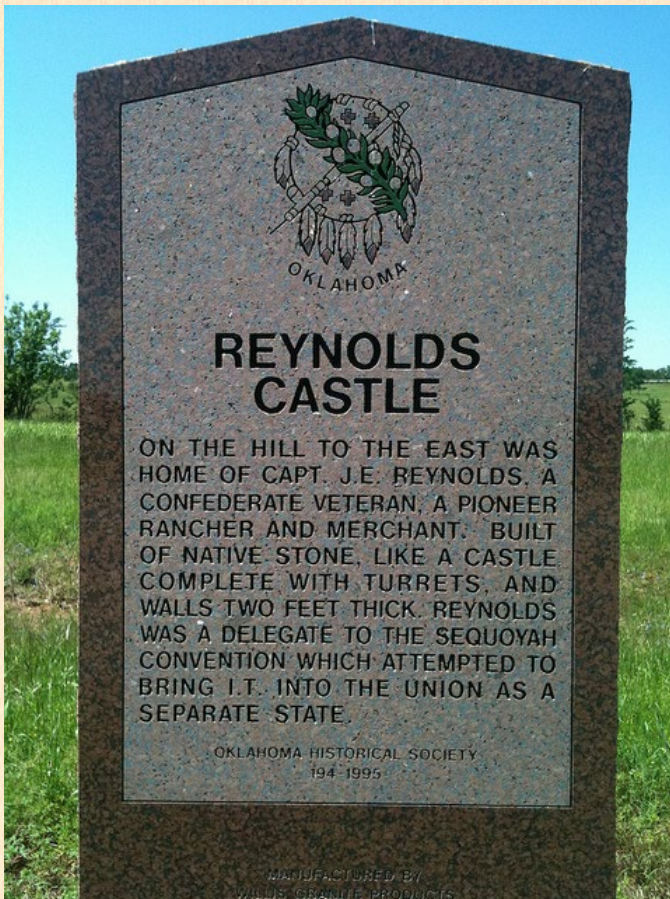

Constructed in 1890 of natural stone mined from a nearby quarry, the castle was built by Captain J.E. Reynolds for his wife, Felicity Turnbull Reynolds, who listed among her ancestors the prominent Choctaw leader Greenwood LeFlore.

A Confederate veteran who had been wounded in Tennessee, Captain Reynolds came to LeFlore County after the Civil War and established his family just outside of Fort Smith where the community of Arkhoma exists today. Reynolds prospered in the Indian Territory and became a successful merchant and rancher. He was heavily involved in the development of coal mines in the region.

The Reynolds family, which grew to include a number of children, lived in their Arkhoma home for more than twenty years until the Frisco Railroad was built southwest from Fort Smith to Paris, Texas, in 1886. Two years later a post office was established in the new railroad town of Cameron and in 1890 Mrs. Reynolds secured title to a parcel of land there. Construction of the castle began a short time later.

Built of native stone mined from a quarry on the nearby hillside, the castle was built with two octagonal towers, thick stone walls and coal-burning fireplaces.

Captain Reynolds dedicated one room to preserving mementos of the Civil War, including flag-draped portraits of Southern generals. Late in life he wrote that he was "still an unreconstructed Confederate," explaining to a niece that he "surrendered (his) individuality" when Southern soldiers stacked their arms and surrendered. In an interesting footnote to his life, the captain contacted another former Confederate officer, Virginia's "Gray Ghost" John Mosby, at the outbreak of World War I and offered to join him in forming a unit of former Confederates to fight in Europe.

Captain and Mrs. Reynolds lived in the castle at Cameron until around 1911 when he became involved in the development of the modern community of Arkhoma. They built a new home there at about that time. Both died in 1920 and are buried in Fort Smith's historic Oak Cemetery, where their graves are marked by the statues of two women helping a wounded Confederate soldier. He had been rescued from a battlefield at New Hope, Georgia by the two daughters of his commanding officer.

Although the Captain's Castle is a private residence, it can be seen from Castle Street in Cameron. One of the few castles ever built in the South, it is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

This monument of two young girls rescuing the captain from a Civil War battlefield stands over Captain and Mrs. Reynolds' graves at Oak Cemetery in Fort Smith, Arkansas

I am a fully ydna Gardner circa 1750 an autosomal tested but my 2nd gr grandfather Daniel Reynolds b. ca 1770 married to Susannah Butler are my brick wall. I think his brother was Benjamin Reynolds b. ca 1776 married to Grisella Beardsley and the brothers were residing on the 1800 Richmond, Chittenden, Vt census. If you think you have a possible connection, I will be happy to check my 250,000 research file.

I was born on December 22, 1954 in New Haven, Connecticut. My father by birth was named Robert Harold Phillips Reynolds, though my last name was changed by adoption to Cafritz in 1963. I cannot find any information about my birth father, though I understand that he and his antecedents were from Connecticut. Perhaps you have some information about this branch?

I am looking for information on Elizabeth Reynolds (about 1708-1733). I notice you do not have a husband for her on your site, however; I believe John DeBorde (1704-1750) to be her husband. Do you have any information to confirm or disprove this theory? John did live in Richmond, Virginia, the same place as Elizabeth. Thank you.

I am trying to search and find for my husband (A T M Reynolds) and his Uncle (D Reynolds) an ancestor that left New Zealand and seemed to have disappeared some time ago.

He was E Reynolds and at the time he was the Post Master for Cambridge in New Zealand.

Any information would be much appreciated.

Many Thanks

Seeing if you have any information of Odie Neal Reynolds family who resided in the historic Synope plantation in Columbia, LA. Later moved to West Monroe, LA. My step grandpa is George Reynolds. He lived most of his life in Morgan City, Houma and Lafayette LA. I am curious if you have any information about his family ties. He has 4 sisters and one brother.

Francis Roberson (b 1763 in RI, died 1846 in Greenwich, NY) was my 4th great grandfather, through his son Barber Roberson. I have been searching for Francis' parents since the 1970's. I too believe that he is likely the son of either William Robinson, b 1736 in Hopkinton, RI (or possibly William's brother Nathan, b 1742 in Hopkinton, RI), but I have not found any definitive evidence. Do you have any proof that Francis is William's son? Please contact me via my email with any information that you have. Thank you for any thoughts or help that you may have on this lineage.

Any help/clues as to the descendants of Lucius Sackett Reynolds will be greatly appreciated. I believe he was born in Greenwich, Fairfield, CT 3/3/1738 and d. 3/2/1815 in Plattsburg, Clinton, New York. Some researchers want to assign the Benjamin born ca 1776 in Richmond, Chittendent, Vermont to Lucius Sackett Reynolds. I do not believe that Lucius was in Vermont. I think it much more likely that the Benjamin that was hh on 1820 and 1830 Plattsburg, Clinton, N.Y was Lucius's son.

With information received from family tradition and research from several years ago, I am confident that my Great Grandfather is descended from John Reynolds and Anne Holbrook Reynolds--Line 11 as shown on your Ancestor Lines.

Question: Is it possible to see more of Mary Reynolds Fosdick's publication? I only see the 1st Generation pages. If it is available, what would be the cost to do so?

Question #1: Has any more information become available regarding John Reynolds' parentage? I came across one source that indicated his family might have gone from England to Bermuda and then to America. But that also indicated -- it was a possibility not substantiated.

Does anyone have proof of marriage between Ella Parsell (b. 11 Feb. 1858) and Simeon Reynolds d. 1908? They lived in both Cayuga and Ontario Counties, NY State. Ella was my mother's grandmother, but I'm not sure that Simeon was Ella's husband.

I believe the father of the Benjamin Reynolds b. in Vermont to be a Gardner as proven by ydna and autosomal descendants.

Any help appreciated.
