PRESIDENT'S CORNER

by Larry "Joe" Reynolds

The 2014 Annual Reynolds Family Association Reunion "Gone to Texas" is just around the corner but it's not too late to register and attend.

We will even take "Walk-Ins" so just mosey on down to the Hampton Inn and Suites, 1715 Old Spanish Trail Houston, TX. We will be there on September 18th, 19th, and 20th.

Our Annual Reunion is our only chance to get together and meet each other, there is more accomplished at night and between meetings than there is in the meeting itself. Come say hello to old friends and make new ones.

For those of you thinking that this is just too far to travel, I would like for you to consider hosting next year's reunion in or near your city. I'll be happy to work with anyone who wants to consider it. Perhaps there are two or three of you who want to get together and work on co-hosting one.

ROBERT REYNOLDS

(by Lindal Reynolds)

The next Battle was at Trenton which Robert would have taken part.(NOTE: Robert never left the war he just changed Commands) the battle took place on the morning of December 26, 1776, during the American Revolutionary War, after General George Washington's crossing of the Delaware River north of Trenton, New Jersey. The hazardous crossing in adverse weather made it possible for Washington to lead the main body of the Continental Army against Hessian soldiers garrisoned at Trenton. After a brief battle, nearly the entire Hessian force was captured, with negligible losses to the Americans. The battle significantly boosted the Continental Army's flagging morale, and inspired reenlistments.

The Continental Army had previously suffered several defeats in New York and had been forced to retreat through New Jersey to Pennsylvania. Morale in the army was low; to end the year on a positive note, George Washington—Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Army—devised a plan to cross the Delaware River on the night of December 25–26 and surround the Hessian garrison.

Because the river was icy and the weather severe, the crossing proved dangerous. Two detachments were unable to cross the river, leaving Washington with only 2,400 men under his command in the assault. The army marched 9 miles (14 km) south to Trenton. The Hessians had lowered their guard, thinking they were safe from the American army, and had no long-distance outposts or patrols. Washington's forces caught them off guard and, after a short but fierce resistance, most of the Hessians surrendered. Almost two thirds of the 1,500-man garrison was captured, and only a few troops escaped across Assunpink Creek.

Despite the battle's small numbers, the American victory inspired rebels in the colonies. With the success of the revolution in doubt a week earlier, the army had seemed on the verge of collapse. The dramatic victory inspired soldiers to serve longer and attracted new recruits to the ranks

The Battle of the Assunpink Creek,[7] also known as the Second Battle of Trenton, was a battle between American and British troops that took place in and around Trenton, New Jersey, on January 2, 1777, during the American Revolutionary War, and resulted in an American victory.

Following a surprise victory at the Battle of Trenton early in the morning of December 26, 1776, General George Washington of the Continental Army and his council of war expected a strong British counter-attack. Washington and his council decided to meet this attack in Trenton, and established a defensive position south of the Assunpink Creek.

Lieutenant General Charles Cornwallis led the British forces southward in the aftermath of the December 26 battle. Leaving 1,400 men under Lieutenant Colonel Charles Mawhood in Princeton, Cornwallis advanced on Trenton with about 5,000 men on January 2. His advance was significantly slowed by defensive skirmishing by American riflemen under the command of Edward Hand, and the advance guard did not reach Trenton until twilight. After assaulting the American positions three times, and being repulsed each time, Cornwallis decided to wait and finish the battle the next day. Washington moved his army around Cornwallis's camp that night and attacked Mawhood at Princeton the next day. That defeat prompted the British to withdraw from most of New Jersey for the winter.

Robert Reynolds would have left the 4th Virginia and enlisted with the Continental army at this point. He was with the conditional Army from March 12th of 1777 until the end of the war. Robert was mustered out on 4th of June 1783.

Note: I checked the records before March and after June for the 4th Virginia Regt. Robert was not listed as a deserter.

The Forage War was a partisan campaign consisting of numerous small skirmishes that took place in New Jersey during the American Revolutionary War between January and March 1777, following the battles of Trenton and Princeton. After both British and Continental Army troops entered their winter quarters in early January, Continental Army regulars and militia companies from New Jersey and Pennsylvania engaged in numerous scouting and harassing operations against the British and German troops quartered in New Jersey. The British troops wanted to have fresh provisions to consume, and also required fresh forage for their draft animals and horses. General George Washington ordered the systematic removal of such supplies from areas easily accessible to the British, and companies of American militia and troops harassed British and German forays to acquire such provisions. While many of these operations were small, in some cases they became quite elaborate, involving more than 1,000 troops. The American operations were so successful that British casualties in New Jersey (including those of the battles at Trenton and Princeton) exceeded those of the entire campaign for New York.

Below shows when and why Robert decided to enlist with the continental Army.

Grayson's Additional Continental Regiment was an American infantry unit that served for two years and three months in the Continental Army during the American Revolutionary War. Like other Additional Regiments, Grayson's remained directly under George Washington's control, unlike state regiments. Authorized in January 1777, the unit's nine companies were recruited from the colonies of Virginia, Maryland, and Delaware. Raised by Colonel William Grayson, the regiment participated in actions in Northern New Jersey in early 1777, at Brandywine in September 1777, at Germantown in October 1777, and at Monmouth in June 1778. In April 1779 the regiment was absorbed by Gist's Additional Continental Regiment and ceased to exist.

Grayson was well liked in Robert's neck of the woods. Robert moved from the 4th Virginia Regt. To the Continental Army. Robert went from being like a national guard to joining the Special Forces or becoming a Marine of sort. He was finally paid, had a uniform and supplies unlike before. Of course the Virginians are a proud lot and they still counted Robert as a deserter. For he had left the Virginia forces for the Continental Army. The Reynolds Family was considered one of Virginia own. It was an insult and a slap in the face to see a Reynolds abandon the Virginia line. As Steven said it may have been one of the reasons why Robert left Virginia for South Carolina after the war.

I found many documents for Robert in the Continental Army. There are over 45 payrolls records and 3 years of muster rolls. I have a document which states appointment or enlistment of Robert Reynolds under Capt. Mitchell's Co. Commanded by Col. William Grayson (from above). Commencement of pay March 12th 1777 with credit of time served of 3 mounts and 20 days which does not prove when Robert enlisted with the 4th Virginia Regt. It does however prove the Continentals were aware he had served with them in the battle up to and during that time also Robert had not been paid for his services. Robert was paid on that very day for the 3 mounts and 20 day for time served. That say something all in itself. Robert had the respect of his commanding officers. Anyone who know anything about our military know these facts.

I have documents showing Robert was at, Middlebrook encampment, 2nd Battle of Brandywine, Battle of Germantown, Battle of White Marsh,(Note: Robert was listed as sick after the battle of White March) Also Note: Robert was with the Continental Army in winter quarters at Valley Forge, Robert was at the signing of the Treaty of Alliance with France, The Battle of Monmouth, with the Continental Army winter quarters at Middlebrook encampment, the Battle of Stony Point, with the Continental Army winter quarters at Morristown, Also from his discharge payment information alone with his discharge location it is most probable and about a 90% certainty he was at the battle of York town which would have been the last battle of the war. As I said before he was mustered out at Franktown, VA on the date of June 4th 1783.

I want to cover an issue or question which at one point someone will ask. How do I know this Robert is the same Robert of the 4th Virginia, the husband of Mary Jones and the Robert of my line?

I am very happy I brought that to my attention "Smile someone". Without having to go through a very lengthy Process. Which I am prepaid for if anyone wants to challenge me on my reasoning. I say bring it on bring your guns out blazing but be prepared if I return fire. You better be prepared for Battle.

Short and to the point. I have been researching for months all the possible Roberts born within a twenty year time frame as my Robert. By the process of elimination I have learned what to look for. I also found a 100 + years old book. Titled "Virginia state Library list of Revolutionary war soldiers of Virginia who fought with the Continental Army – Special report of department of archives and history for 1912 – archives H. J Eckenrode, Richmond 1913" -- Within its covers It has only one Robert listed for VA who fits the bill. It also recognizes Robert as being with the 4th Virginia Regt. and the Continental Troops. Robert records with the 4th Virginia Regt. Together with the muster pay roll of the Continental Troops which has the VA notation plainly marked on the Department of Archives Cards, Along with the information this book provides proves a great deal. I also have the original documents I can compare. I will not say it is a 100% but you better be able to present a good case to prove to me otherwise.

I called the library of Congress and spoke with a representative. I asked the representative, has anyone ever filed a pension application on this continental Robert. The answer was no. They also have no record of his marriage or whatever happened to him after the war not even his death or his children. That only support my theory that Robert of the 4th Virginia is the same as the Robert of the Continental troop under Col. William Grayson. It's a shame Mary's claim was rejected. For Robert would have wanted her to receive what she and his children were entitled to. Now after 230 plus years I will be able to clear my G-G-G-Grandfather's name and give the family the peace we all deserve knowing he was a hero not a disgrace. Look how long his name has been dishonored. He was one of our founding fathers who fought for our rights we all enjoy today. I only wish I knew where his grave was so I could put up a monument in his honor. I

Robert went from being a disgraced as a deserter to becoming a true American hero. Maybe that is all I was put here for, I Hope I am able to see that my G-G-G-Great-grandfather's records is sit straight showing he was not a deserter he would be happy. If so the rest of my line will be able to be proud of our name and who we really are once again.

A Short summery from above.

Robert Reynolds was born in Caroline County Virginia in the year 1761.

1. Robert enlisted with the 4th Virginia Regt. Of foot under Capt. John Brent's Co. Commanded by Col. Thomas Elliott sometimes in 1776.

2. Robert was at the battle of Brandywine. There was much confusion and loss of live. Also take Notice: Col. William Grayson was sent by George Washington himself to recruit men for the Continental Army. He recruited most of his men form northern VA, Del, and Maryland.

3. Robert Enlisted with the Continental Troops under Capt. Nathaniel Mitchell's commanded by William Grayson himself on March 12th 1777, On his enlistment Document it shows Robert was given credit for 3 mouths and 20 days for time served; which shows the conventional recognized Robert had prier service with the 4th Va. Also he had not been paid during that amount of time.

4. On April, May and June Robert is listed as a deserter. Tactically He could be considered a deserter form the Va. Line to the Continental Army. It was like moving form a state national guard to the Marines. Robert went with a higher authority.

5. Documents show he was mustered out on June 4th 1783 when he received his final Pay. With these facts it is clear Robert was no deserter.

6. Robert Married Mary Jones on Dec. 20th 1788.

7. Robert received Land under the Rev. War service act. in Georgia.

FEDERATION OF GENEALOGICAL SOCIETIES 2014 ANNUAL CONFERENCE

I attended the 2014 Federation of Genealogical Societies Annual Conference in San Antonio, Texas on September 26th – 31st, 2014. The RFA manned a booth where we recruited for and gave out information on the Reynolds Family Association. This event was attended by an estimated 3,000 people and our booth was well received by most visitors.

We had six new members to sign up during the conference and the promise of several others that they would consider it. Many picked up applications for friends who they knew were researching the Reynolds Family.

Thank you,

Clint Reynolds,

773, Van, Texas 75790,

Looking for ancestor information on my gg grandfather Rhode Reynolds. It's a pretty distinct name, but I can't find any information on Ancestry.com to carry me back further.

This is what I know:

Rhode Reynolds (could be S.R. Reynolds, maybe Shed Rhodessa Reynolds??) b. 1-24-1836, Fairfield County, SC d. 9-22-1924, Wood County, TX married in 1867, Bullock County, AL to Elizabeth Arrington (or Mary Elizabeth Arrington). This is verified.

They had multiple children: John, William, Charles, James, Mattie, Cenie (Cenia), and my Great-Grandfather Samuel Rhodessa Reynolds. Samueul Rhodessa Reynolds b. 1-17-1899 Wood County, TX d. 11-1-1964 Wood County, TX married Bessie Lee McElyea. I have good information on Samuel and Bessie. They had one son, my grandfather - Joe M. Reynolds, deceased.

I am looking for two things: 1. the parents of my GG Grandfather and his family ancestry going back. His birthdate and place was verified on a application for Civil War Pension in 1921. Two affiants called him Rhode or Rhodes Reynolds. 2. Elizabeth Arrington Reynolds died maybe in Wood County, TX, but there no Death Records I can check because of a courthouse fire around 1920 that destroyed a lot of records. So her proof of death verifying her parents would be nice to have.

I would appreciate information on Mary Reynolds, a daughter of Peter Reynolds, born 26 Jan 1670, (and Mary Giles), a son of Nathaniel, a son of Robert and Mary. Thank you, Frank

Don Reynolds,
dereynolds@mytangledweb.com, 1903
Gossard Street, Enumclaw, WA 98022,

I'm interested to see if anyone has a William Reynolds Jr/Sr, a Levinna Reynolds, or Orin Reynolds in their Family Trees. I would be interested in sharing information and comparing DNA.

- William Reynolds Sr and Jr are both listed in the book:

A Genealogy of James and Deborah Reynolds of North Kingstown, Rhode Island, and Descendants.

1st ed. Stephen C. Roth, compiler and editor

Note: Stephen Roth was at 1 time the Registrar for the Reynolds Family Association.

- Levinna and Orin were sai to be children of William Jr.

Circumstantial evidence and a DNA analysis I took are showing that William Jr. could be my GGG Grandfather, but I don't have anything conclusive yet that ties him to my GG Grandfather, Milton Reynolds. I'd like to see if I can strengthen the case for the relationship.

Here's some of what I have:

- DNA analysis is showing a possible 5th - 8th Cousin relationship between myself and various people that can trace their lineage back to the Rhode Island Reynolds family.

- William Sr. was the son of Joseph Reynolds and Experience Davis (...listed in the Rhode Island Reynolds family).

- William Sr. b: 1777 Stephentown (Rensselaer) NY, moved to Adams (Brown) Co, Ohio abt 1802

- William Sr. married Esther Ruth Gardner abt. 1797 Rennsalaer NY.

- William Sr had the follwing children:

1. Gardner b: abt 1799

2. William Jr. b: abt 1801 in Renssellaer, NY

3. Henry b: abt 1805/1806

2. Lucy b: abt 1805/1806

5. Amarilla b: 22 Dec 1809

6. Elias b: c 1811

7. Ervin (or Irvin) b: 1812

8. Electa b: 1814

- Wiliam Jr. married Almira Brockway 28 Dec 1824

Almira was the daughter of Justus Brockway and Thankful Boss, also from Rensselaer NY. They also moved to Brown Co, Ohio.

- In 1834 William Sr. and Jr. were reported to have moved to Putnam County, Illinois. Then sometime after 1840 they moved to Ripley Co, Indiana.

- William Jr. was enumerated as William Runnels, a blacksmith, in the 1850 Census for North Madison, IN.

- We think William and Almira had the following children (only Levinna and Orin appear to be documented)

1. Milton b: abt 1828 d: bef 1856
Spouse: Nancy Ann Wise
2. Levinna b: 1831 d: 14 Dec 1917
Spouse: Edward Holmes
3. Unknown b: d:
4. Orin b: abt 1843 d:

- Milton Reynolds married Nancy Ann Wise in Ripley County, IN on 20 Apr 1848.

Note: Indiana law at the time required women to be married in their "home" County. This puts Nancy & her family from here. Their wedding was mentioned in the Madison (Jefferson County) Weekly Courier of May 24.

On 30 Jun 1856 Nancy married Joseph Brooks, in Hancock Co, Illinois. We don't know what happened to Milton.

- In 1860, William Jr (age 56), Almira (age 56), and Orin Reynolds (age 17) were enumerated in Benton Twp, Knox Co, Missouri.

- On 19 September 1916 Levinna Reynolds swore that she was 85, born 3 May 1831 at "Ripley County, Ohio" •. She married

Edward Holmes 18 January 1848 as Levinna Reynolds at "Bryansburg" •, Indiana.

1. The Holmes (Edward and Levinna) show up as neighbors of William and Almira in the 1850 US Census for North Madison, Indiana

2. Milton and Nancy Ann (Wise) Reynolds are also shown in the same 1850 Census as neighbors of William and Almira too.

3. Milton and William are both listed as Blacksmiths.

- Levinna died Friday 14 December 1917 at age 86 years, 6 months, 12 days, having been born in Ohio to William Reynolds Jr. and Alva Brockway. Levinna was said to be the last surviving member of her branch of the family, there being three brothers, all unnamed, (Milton? Orin? Unknown?), who preceded her in death. •
